Modern Intermediate School Will Be Erected In Rear of High School

Thorough Study of Courses for New Vocational School

Construction of a new vocational school in Kingston as a part of the Board of Education's program of improvement to the school system has brought up the question of which courses recommended by the State Department of Education should be installed in the vocational school in Kingston when completed. The courses to be installed should be those which will serve the greater number of students and fit them better to go out into Kingston and Ulster county industry and become better workmen, the Board of Education feels, and with this idea in view the Board of Education with the sanction of the Advisory Board has decided to conduct a survey among the business firms of the locality to ascertain which courses might serve the student best.

Not only will the survey include the manufacturing concerns and tradesmen of the city and surrounding territory but a questionnaire will also be submitted to the student body asking the prospective vocational course he or she may be most interested in. From these two questionnaires it is hoped that much valuable information will be drawn as to what particular courses would be best adapted to Kingston's need.

Will Send Questionnaires.
Questionnaires will very shortly be sent or delivered to manufacturing concerns in the vicinity and the Board of Education desires that all heads of concerns fill out these papers promptly and return them so that the survey may give a true cross section of local industry's demands.

A meeting was held Monday evening at the high school at which time it was voted to immediately get the survey under way so as to have facts before the Board as soon as possible from which suitable courses may be laid out for the new vocational school. Until such time as the program of work is more definitely known it will be impossible for the architect to complete his plans for the vocational building since the particular courses to be taught may require some special design for installation of equipment.

Promptness Requested.
In order to hasten this work the Board requests that all questionnaires be promptly filled out with the desired information and returned to the Board's offices in the high school.

The form of questionnaire to be submitted was approved at the meeting Monday evening and Herbert H. Hoderath, instructor in Manual Arts, was named to assist the Board in the making of the survey of local industry.

The following members of the Board of Education building committee, advisory board and industrial committee attended the meeting.

Plans for Kingston's new Central School are practically completed and Teller & Halverson, architects, expect to submit the plans to the State Department of Education some time this week for final approval. The plans in general have been approved by the State Department but before they are submitted to contractors for bids final approval of the plan must be had by the department.

Kingston's new Central School will be erected upon a site at the rear of the present Kingston High School. The new building will have a seating capacity for 840 students and will be modernly equipped in all departments. There will be 20 classrooms, 10 each on the two floors of the building and in addition there will be study halls, library, science rooms, teachers' rooms, music room, lunch rooms, a large combination gym and auditorium, and other rooms and equipment which go to make up a modern school building.

Local Brick Specified

Constructed out of Hudson valley common brick made locally, the building will be of Colonial design with limestone trim. Floors will be of steel and concrete and the roof will be of slate, giving a very substantial building of fire-proof construction and a building which will be pleasing to the eye, yet economical to construct and maintain.

Situated upon the high plateau at the rear of the present high school the new Central School will face Andrew street with a drive leading up from Andrew street. In front of the building will be a circular drive and an exit street leading out to West O'Reilly street giving a two way access to the building.

The Central School was partially designed to fit the terrain. It will be located upon the plot of ground so as to enhance the beauty of the buildings and surroundings and at the same time take advantage of the natural layout of the site. Only a portion of the ground under the building will be excavated. This will be at the lower level where the natural surroundings will be taken into consideration so as to form not a cellar but actually a partial basement with much of the basement structure above ground, eliminating the cellar and basement effect to a great degree. Only such portions as are required for use will be excavated.

Entering from the front of the building, which will face Andrew street, on either side of the entrance door will be administration rooms. On one side will be the principal's offices and on the other side will be the suite of health rooms. The main floor of the building, extending from one end of the building to the other will be used for corridor lockers and this will also prevail in the second and floor corridors. On either side of the corridor will be class and study rooms and directly ahead from the entrance will be the combination gym and auditorium. This auditorium will be fitted with a stage of generous size fully equipped with stage lighting and effects. Bleacher seats along one side of the gym may be folded back against the

Mrs. Roosevelt Learns About Duties on Juries

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says she "doesn't know a thing" about the duties of women jurors, but she is learning. The first lady of the land, one of 200 interested "students" at a school for women jurors conducted here yesterday by Dutchess county Judge J. Gordon Flannery, declined an offer to address the forum.

"Oh, no thank you," she replied, "I don't know a thing about this."

The school was arranged to acquaint women with court procedure in preparation for jury service under a new state law effective September 1.

Murder juries, Judge Flannery explained, usually are locked up for the night.

"In that case," he added, "you would be able to use the court telephone to explain the situation and send for fresh clothing or anything else needed."

John Roosevelt Engaged to Wed Miss Anne Clark

Nahant, Mass., Sept. 14 (AP)—John Roosevelt, handsome Harvard undergraduate and only unmarried member of the nation's first family, is engaged to pretty Anne Lindsay Clark, Boston debutante, but wedding plans have not been formulated.

The youngest son of President and Mrs. Roosevelt made this clear after his fiancée's mother, Mrs. F. Haven Clark, widow of a wealthy Boston banker, announced the engagement, ending weeks of rumors and constant denials.

"We haven't made any plans yet for getting married," said John, a senior at Harvard. "I've got to finish one more year at college you know. Then I hope to get into advertising as a commission salesman. Just where I'll settle down I don't know. It may be Boston."

Although the announcement was made yesterday, John disclosed that they were engaged at the time he escorted Miss Clark to the wedding of his older brother Franklin, and Ethel duPont on June 22.

It was a whirlwind courtship apparently. Only last April Mrs. Clark announced that the engagement of her daughter to Samuel Stevens Sands of Middleburg, Va., had been broken, with the explanation "it was more or less a hasty romance anyway."

The engagement of John and Miss Clark had President and Mrs. Roosevelt's blessing.

At the President's Hyde Park, N. Y., estate, James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son and secretary who married a Boston debutante, said "the family is very pleased."

Miss Clark, slender and blue-eyed, is 21, four months "to the day" younger than John.

Miss Clark, wearing a three-diamond engagement ring, told interviewers she didn't have any plans, and stated firmly "and what's more, I don't know a thing about the New Deal."

U.S. Court Session To Test New Deal Laws In October

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Litigation involving eight administration-sponsored laws, awaits action by the Supreme Court at its new term beginning October 4.

More than 100 cases are on file. The tribunal will announce on October 11 whether it will review them or let the decisions of lower courts stand.

It already has agreed to pass on challenges of the government's right to make loans and grants for publicly-owned hydroelectric plants. Arguments likely will be heard in October.

The cases were filed by the Alabama Power Company and by the Iowa City Light and Power Company last spring. Similar litigation was appealed a few days ago by the Duke Power Company.

Three disputes growing out of the Wagner labor relations act, sustained by the tribunal last term, have been filed.

In one, the National Labor Relations Board appealed from a decision enjoining it from conducting a hearing on a complaint that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd., had engaged in unfair labor practices at its Fore River, Mass., plant.

In the second, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company is attempting to prevent the labor board from conducting a hearing to determine whether the shipbuilding concern has engaged in unfair labor practices.

Attacks Labor Board
The third, filed by the Jeffery-DeWitt Insulator Company of Kenova, W. Va., attacks a labor board order holding the company guilty of unfair labor practices.

Other litigation involves: Constitutionality of the 1933 securities act, validity of the 1936 act broadening regulation of commodity exchanges, dispute over whether the Treasury can call gold bonds for redemption in advance of the maturity date without paying interest, and an attack on the Home Owners' Loan Corporation act by Gertrude Kay of New York, convicted of violating sections prohibiting false statements.

An appeal is also before the court by the Merced Irrigation District of California for reconsideration of its 1936 decision holding unconstitutional the 1934 municipal bankruptcy act as well as a procedural dispute over whether the Georgia Power Company can continue with litigation in Tennessee in an effort to prevent the Tennessee Valley authority from expanding its activities in Georgia.

Queen Alexandrine III
Copenhagen, Sept. 14 (AP)—Queen Alexandrine, 57-year-old queen of Denmark, was reported very weak today after an operation for a stomach ailment. There was great anxiety in the royal household.

Moscow Hails Victory
Moscow, Sept. 14 (AP)—A technical victory over Italy—although incomplete—one was claimed today by the Soviet press as a result of the international patrol.

The accord specifically declares there is no intention to grant belligerent rights to either side of the Spanish conflict. The pact, moreover, exempts Spanish merchant vessels from protection of the international patrol.

Poodle Dog Awaiting Recovery of Mistress

Camden, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP)—A little white poodle dog slunk disconsolately about a lonely house near Lucaston, N. J., today with death waiting to rob him of a hero's laurels.

The aid he had brought to Mrs. Christine Toth, 70, ill of food poisoning, probably came too late. Physicians said her condition was critical.

Mrs. Toth became ill yesterday after eating what she thought were mushrooms. She lost consciousness. When she rallied she was without means of summoning help.

But her poodle dog, a constant companion for four years, gave her an idea. She'd send him for help. Scrawling a message on the back of an old envelope she tied it to the dog's collar with a bit of string.

The Rev. Harry B. Stockton, pastor of the Lucaston Methodist Episcopal Church, was awakened by the dog's barking. He called Dr. Harold Paul Conson, of Stratford.

Nine Powers Sign
(By The Associated Press)
Geneva, Sept. 14—Nine European powers signed the Nyon pact today, binding them to a dramatic scheme to rid vital Mediterranean shipping routes of pirate submarine warfare.

Great Britain and France immediately swung into action to concentrate a mighty fleet on the inland sea.

Nine torpedo boats from the French Atlantic fleet, with fresh cargoes of supplies, including munitions, drove quickly toward their Mediterranean patrol posts.

They augmented a formidable fleet of British warcraft already at Mediterranean stations.

Altogether, the Anglo-French war vessels, comprising the backbone of the international fleet, will have 60 warships on patrol duty.

The nine powers await Italy's decision on an invitation to share responsibility in arrangements for patrolling the Tyrrhenian sea, off the Italian western coast.

The accord and its vast plan for driving maritime marauders from commercial lanes becomes effective immediately, whether Italy accepts her assignment or not.

Neither Germany nor Italy attended the momentous talks in the sleepy little Swiss village on Lake Geneva near here. Albania, dominated in foreign policy by Italy, also declined the invitation.

The Rome and Berlin governments rebuffed the bid in the heat of tension last week over Soviet Russia's accusation that Italian submarines torpedoed two Soviet merchant ships in the Western Mediterranean.

The text of the protocol follows the lines of a draft approved on Saturday, zoning the Mediterranean and its lesser seas and authorizing warship members of the international police force, to sink any piracy-bent undersea craft that pokes its periscope above the waves.

The accord specifically declares there is no intention to grant belligerent rights to either side of the Spanish conflict. The pact, moreover, exempts Spanish merchant vessels from protection of the international patrol.

WPA Becomes Burden on City, Board Is Told

Japanese Troops Strike at Second Chinese Defense

Shanghai, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Japanese army splashed forward through a torrential rain today in a massed attack against Chinese second line positions northwest of Shanghai.

A Japanese spokesman reported that the strong fortifications at the Chinese civic center of Kiangwan had been occupied and the Japanese troops had pushed deep into the Delta. The muddy roads were jammed with Japanese reinforcements moving up to bolster the assault against the new Chinese line.

Heavy artillery and tanks splashed across country behind the advancing Japanese infantry in the flooded Delta lands.

New horror was added to the tragic story of undeclared war at Shanghai when the Chinese Central news agency reported 400 civilian war refugees had been killed or wounded by Japanese bombs rained on the flimsy sailing boats in which they were fleeing the city.

After their four-mile retirement last night, the Chinese forces took up new positions extending in almost a straight line from Shanghai's north station for 30 miles to the banks of the Yangtze river above Lihou.

They appeared undaunted by the strategic withdrawal which their commanders explained was made to afford better coordination of Chinese units and to avoid the heavy fire of Japanese warships.

The tenacious Chinese, who had fought the Japanese advance to a standstill for almost five weeks, still had three powerful defense lines intact to the west.

Whangpoo warships hurled tons of steel at the new line which Chinese claimed was impregnable. Japanese Bluebird planes in the North Szechuan Road district joined in the attack, engulfing the northern environs of Shanghai in the continued fighting.

Despite the dropping rain, fires burned over the destroyed sectors of the city and miscellaneous shells from both armies continued to burst over the foreign areas, spraying them with shrapnel.

Many Refugees
Constituting a menace to the city's safety that almost paralleled the war itself, a million and a half starving, disease-ridden refugees were packed into the foreign settlements.

The staggering number of homeless war victims—almost equal to the normal population of International Shanghai—was made known by W. H. Plant, of Portland, Me., manager of the United Steel Products Corporation in China and a member of the settlement municipal council.

Refugee agencies already were drained of funds and they feared that cholera and small pox epidemics, starvation and food riots were in store for Shanghai.

ELECTION OFFICERS SHOULD TAKE OATH
Thursday is Primary Day in Kingston and at the office of City Clerk E. J. Dempsey at the city hall it was stated today that a number of those who had been appointed to serve as election officials had not sworn in as yet. Wednesday is the last day that they can take the oath of office and the city clerk's office will be open until 5 o'clock that afternoon.

Treasury Receipts
Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—The position of the Treasury on September 11: Receipts, $26,179,744.10; expenditures, $18,409,436.14; balance, $7,769,308.00. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,057,237,298.94; expenditures, $1,474,670,419.82; including $423,055,265.71 of emergency expenditures. Excess of expenditures, $417,433,120.91; gross debt, $37,212,880,122.18; an increase of $486,440.56 above the previous day; gold assets, $32,951,265.94 including $1,400,589,319.15 of inactive gold.

Still Husband and Wife
Los Angeles, Sept. 14 (AP)—George Brent and Constance Worth are still husband and wife, hold yesterday that Brent, hand-cuffed yesterday, and Miss Worth, Australian actress, went through a Mexican wedding ceremony in good faith. Brent petitioned to have the marriage annulled on grounds it did not comply with Mexican law. Brent and Miss Worth were married this spring. Neither was available for comment.

Mayor Backs Plan
Mayor Heiselman enthusiastically welcomed this idea and assured the meeting that there is an appalling number of cases in Kingston where corrective health people are not on relief they are not eligible for aid by state or city, and yet they simply have not the money to secure treatment for themselves.

The council will not necessitate added expenditure by any organization, but will simply be a comment.

Suggests Federal Government is Trying to Make Cities Abandon WPA by Making Burden Too Heavy.

TO STUDY PLAN
Board of Public Works to Consider Closing Down WPA This Winter.

"It looks as though the federal government in Washington wants the WPA to fold up, but does not want to take the initiative in the matter, since it has been posing as a friend of the laboring man," said Mayor C. J. Heiselman at the monthly meeting of the Board of Public Works held at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon at the city hall.

The mayor said that the WPA program was constantly being changed by Washington and these changes kept piling a burden of expense upon the municipalities sponsoring the program.

"What the government is trying to do," he said, "is to make this burden so heavy that the municipalities will become disgusted and throw the whole WPA program overboard."

Kingston's contribution so far to the WPA program in the city in money, materials and equipment totals $371,485.39, according to the report of City Engineer James Norton.

Albany Supervision.
It was brought out that all supervision on the jobs is now made from Albany. Acting under orders from Washington the Kingston office has been cut down to but three people, Arthur Hallman, who is in charge, who is allowed one stenographer and a clerk. Also it was stated that on all projects the costs to the city had been greatly increased.

After discussing the WPA program at length it was decided to hold a special meeting shortly to discuss the question of whether it would be advisable to continue a WPA program this winter and the coming year or to shut down the WPA program here.

Again Appointed.
Mayor Heiselman announced that he had appointed John J. Egan, of the Kirkland Hotel, Main street, as a member of the board to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Bernard V. Rouch. Owing to the fact that Commissioner Egan had just been appointed that afternoon he had been unable to attend the meeting of the board.

Commissioner Harry Kaplan was elected secretary of the board, which position had been filled by Mr. Roach.

Street Petition.
A petition was read from residents of Miller Lane calling attention to the fact that the street goes under three names—For some distance it is known as Miller Lane, then as Sharp street and then as Cummings street, and petitioners ask that the street be known as Miller Lane. The petition was granted and the matter will be taken up with the common council.

Deed for Park.
The board accepted a deed for Hutton Park on Grant street, just off East Chester street. This is one of the new parks that the board is developing this season.

Deeds from James F. Dwyer and the Cockendall estate for land to be used in the widening of McIntee street also were accepted by the board. Superintendent Conway plans to commence work of widening the street from Broadway to Wurts street, this week. The street will be widened from 10 to 14 feet.

Boulevard Lights
Commissioner Emerick of the lighting committee reported in favor of removing the present 600-candle power street lamp on the Boulevard at the intersection of Greenkill avenue, Wall and Fair streets, and replace it with five 250-candlepower lights, placed on the various street corners at the intersection. The report was adopted, and the change ordered made.

Mayor Heiselman also called attention to street lighting on Linderman avenue, and said he had received requests to have lights installed. The matter was referred to the lighting committee to inspect the situation and report back to the board as soon as possible.

New City Garage
The new city garage which is being built as a WPA project is nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy about October 1, according to City Engineer Norton's report to the board. The seven planes used in the city parks this season will be stored for the winter in the municipal auditorium.

Superintendent Conway
Superintendent Conway reported that during August the four covered trucks of the city had carried 579 loads of ash and rubbish, and the other trucks used

Model Railroaders 4-H Club Members Meet Wednesday Of Ulster County Attend State Fair

People of Kingston and the surrounding communities who are interested in model railroading will meet Wednesday evening, September 15, at 8 o'clock at the T. M. C. A. building for the purpose of forming a model railroad club. The meeting is open to anyone who is interested in coming a member of a club which will support its own miniature railroad system operated for the mutual benefit of the members.

Through the medium of a club, similar to those now in existence in other cities throughout the country, individuals will be able to ride their hobby with less expense to themselves and with more benefit derived from the initial outlay of capital.

Wednesday's meeting will be for the purpose of deciding on the location of such a layout and the rules to govern club members.

Model Railroaders 4-H Club Members Meet Wednesday Of Ulster County Attend State Fair

Ulster county was well represented at the New York State Fair and Exposition which was held last week at Syracuse. Friday night a 4-H banquet was held at the Camp Perry House to award the prizes and ribbons won by outstanding 4-H Club members from nearly every county in New York state. Some 550 New York State 4-H Club members attended this banquet and were pleasantly entertained by Toastmaster "Captain" Albert Rogers of Sullivan county who introduced J. W. Weaver, superintendent of the Boys and Girls Department, Albert Hoefler, assistant state club leader of New York; Miss Dorothy Delany, assistant state club leader of New York; Frederick Heinzelman, assistant state club leader of New York; Miss Martha Leighton, assistant state club leader of Vermont; Arthur J. Pratt, vegetable gardening specialist; poultry specialist, E. J. South and L. Bennett, dairy specialist; Leland Lamb, Harold Williams, clothing specialist; Mrs. Ida O. Perez, and president of the State 4-H Club Council, Glenn Feltst of Jefferson county.

Short musical programs were given by Assistant Camp Director William Smith and his accompanist. Immediately following these introductions, awards were made and residents of Ulster county should be more than proud of the showing made by the members from this county.

Rodney Hommel, blue mountain headed the list of individual winners at the New York State Fair and Exposition last week. Rodney will go to Chicago as a member of the New York State Vegetable Judging team. He was elected to this office through his outstanding ability to judge and identify vegetable crops. To identify common New York State weeds, to identify vegetable seeds and grading vegetables. The other two members on the New York State Vegetable Team are Solomon Cook of St. Lawrence county and Irving Cobb of Nassau county.

The other two members from Ulster county were Howard Limbacher, of Sawkill, and William Morehouse, of Lake Katrine, the three members from Ulster county succeeded in placing Ulster county first in the county team competition.

Rodney Hommel with, Solomon Cook and Irving Cobb will automatically become members of the team representing New York State at the National Vegetable Judging Contest to be held at National Club 4-H Congress to be held at Chicago the last week in November. Rodney scored 263.33 out of a possible 300, which is a score that represents the work of a capable vegetable judge. Limbacher and Morehouse brought up the county score to 772 by placing in the first 10, and placing Ulster county first.

Equally important work was done by three members of the New Paltz 4-H Club, DuBois Jenkins, John Schreiber and Murray Jenkins in the dairy competition. The rules and regulations were that the high team was selected to attend National Club Congress instead of individual high judges, and when all placings were completed, the Ulster county team third high in the State with Albany county first. Competition was very severe in this dairy work and the record made was coveted by many other counties. DuBois Jenkins took individual honors and won a special bronze medal as being the outstanding New York State 4-H Club Jersey class judge.

Dairy clubs are different from other 4-H Clubs in the county and it should be remembered that this club demonstrated a future dairy barn at the Ulster County Field Day here. Fred DuBois, Jr. of New Paltz, is the leader of this club and the state is beginning to recognize the efforts of his leadership by the work performed by his boys.

The list of entries in the Home-making department at this year's fair and exposition was far beyond anticipated entries which caused the judges and those in charge such a great amount of compilation that the final results and awards have not reached the 4-H Club office at this time.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Village Board Member Resigns

Saugerties, Sept. 13.—At a meeting of the Saugerties Village Board of Trustees held on Thursday evening Glenford Gentner, a member of the board, tendered his resignation, because his business made it difficult to attend to the meetings. Mr. Gentner's resignation was accepted with regret by his fellow members and John Carnright was elected to serve the term. Mr. Carnright has served the village as a member of the board for several years. He is a vice-president of the Saugerties Bank.

Saugerties To Have Dentist

Dr. Robert Ploss of Kingston, a graduate of Tufts College of Dentistry, Boston, Mass., will take over the offices formerly occupied by Dr. A. J. Norton in the Lasher Building on Main street.

TOWN SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION TO BE HELD

Saugerties, Sept. 13.—The Town of Saugerties Sunday School convention will be held in the Flatbush Reformed Church on Friday evening, September 17, at 7:30 o'clock. The annual business will be transacted and election of officers for the coming year will take place. The topic of this meeting will be "The Interrelations Between the Sunday School and the Home" which will be presented by the Rev. Howard D. McGrath of Kingston, who is a well known leader of religious education in the Methodist Episcopal Church. There also will be a question period and a general discussion of this subject.

LOCAL SCHOOL BOARD HELD MEETING

Saugerties, Sept. 13.—At a recent meeting of the Saugerties Board of Education it was voted that an eight foot walk be built from Division street to the concrete walk near the high school gym for the students who come to school by bus. It is the plan to have all school buses stop on the Division street side of the school properly as a safety measure, which is away from the traffic of the nearby streets. It is the purpose to have the children enter and leave the school via this new walk which will be built by the village street force.

Superintendent of Schools Morse reported to the board that five cadet teachers of the State Normal School, New Paltz, had been assigned to the Saugerties schools and that during the next 10 weeks they will assist in the work of the grades. These cadets are assigned as part of their teachers training course and without expense to the school district. Those present at the meeting were President Joseph Frankel, Fred Van Voorhis, Arthur Lamb, Dr. Guy F. Axtell, Mrs. Floyd B. Garrison, Holley R. Canine.

MOTHER SLAYS SON-IN-LAW

Mrs. Rose Donofrio, attractive 34-year-old mother of a grown daughter, killed her son-in-law, James Aiello (right), 37, at New York in her 18-year-old daughter, Teresa (left), who married Aiello in Cumberland, Md., last June. Mrs. Donofrio, wife of a well-to-do dairy owner, pleaded innocent to the slaying charge and her attorney said that he would invoke the "unwritten law" in her defense.

PERSONALS

Saugerties, Sept. 13.—James Styles was conveyed to the Benedictine Hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. B. W. Gifford.

The annual fair and supper of the First Congregational Church will be held in the chapel Wednesday, October 20.

PAPERHANGERS VOTE NO ECONOMIC AID TO HITLER

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—American Federation of Labor painters, decorators and paper-hangers today went on record for an educational campaign on "the true nature of Fascism".

At the same time, delegates to the union convention here adopted a resolution opposing "any economic aid to the Hitler government by the United States."

Their action followed an address by William Rodriguez, Chicago attorney and former house painter, in which he asked the convention to work for a constitutional amendment "taking away claring war."

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 14, 1937

SHORTAGE OF HELP

In a letter received the other day by a Kingston man from a friend in Stone Ridge, the latter, a man of wide business experience, now retired, there appeared this paragraph:

"At least three-quarters of the alleged unemployment is a fake and a humbug. People are being lured from their ordinary occupations in order to go on one or another of the alphabetical alphabet farms and to enjoy a few days of idleness. People are unable to get their usual help because people can get $15 a week for loafing."

Allowing for a certain amount of feeling and rhetorical exaggeration on the part of the writer of the above, there is plenty of evidence of a pretty convincing nature that the criticism is by no means unfounded.

From various parts of the country have come news stories indicating shortage of help in gathering crops. Only Monday The Freeman told of the plight of Ulster county apple growers who, it was stated, need at least 500 apple pickers at the present time. They pay 25 cents an hour for nine hours—overtime at the rate of 20 cents. Not "war time" wages, it is true, but probably fair remuneration for the work, especially considering the returns received by the grower for his fruit.

At any rate, it's honest work, which is what any man who is unfortunate enough to be unemployed and finds himself forced to live upon the efforts of other people should be glad enough to find.

RUSSIAN HELP.

The new treaty between China and Russia suggests that the latter will soon be more intimately connected with the Far East struggle than she is yet. An agreement not to hurt the other fellow may lead to actual cooperation. There would be obvious advantages for Russia if she could weaken an ambitious and persistent neighbor like Japan, without actually going to war. Whatever helps China hurts Japan, and whatever hurts Japan strengthens Russia in the Orient.

It is not surprising to read that Russia has already sent China a fleet of war planes, spared from the Soviet's own rather ample supply. There is talk of Russian officers flocking to China to help train a great army for defense. China obviously has plenty of human war material; her lack is training and equipment. Russia can provide both, furtively or openly.

That may cause further complications. If the Chinese war, with such help should seem to be going against Japan, the latter in desperation might decide to take Russia on, too, as Germany in the last war seemed to be taking all comers. And nobody could tell where it would end. Russia is really an Asiatic rather than a European power, especially under the present regime. The efforts of Europe and America should be, whatever happens, to confine that war to Asia.

MODERN MARKET HOUSE.

There are good ideas in an architect's design for what he ambitiously calls the "market house of the future," even if it does look like a troop ship or an airplane carrier, and has the meaningless horizontal lines and rounded corners that advanced architects seem to consider necessary nowadays.

The housewife doing the marketing drives her car along and picks up her purchases from stalls arranged and spaced for quick service. This is on a driveway which runs around the building outside, in an endless, sheltered porch. Inside are meat and grocery counters on the second floor, reached by a ramp so that nobody stumbles. The third floor is a sort of roof-garden, with a cafeteria and rest rooms and a playground for children. Mother takes the kids along, and they have a good time while she's buying their dinners.

There are ultra-modern lighting arrangements, of course, and the outside is of porcelain enamel that can be easily cleaned. Refrigeration, an ever-ready essential, is provided in every stall from a central unit, which also air-conditions the building. Quite a change from the little old corner grocery, with its flies and odors and slow service.

TRAILER LAWS

The lawmakers are hot on the trail of trailers, and it may soon be futile for them to erect state lines in quest of old-fashioned freedom to do as they please with their property and garbage and families. The states are getting together for uniform legislation to control these nomads.

There is already a committee, of which Harold C. Ostrag of New York is chairman, embracing nine states, to work out the desired laws. Other states may fall into line more rapidly than usual. Present aims are concerned chiefly with health, motor registration, and observance of local and state laws with regard to education, taxes, property rights, and so on.

There is no hostility to the trailer people, but rather a friendly, though strict, effort to manage them for their own good.

The obvious advantages of this mode of life and travel are recognized. But there will be no more progress, the regulators say, and benefits will be lost, if there is no proper control, or if states set up varied and conflicting controls.

CASES OF PIMPLES.

About the time that the growing boy and girl begin to think about their "looks" or appearance, it so often happens that unsightly pimples (acne) appear. On what was formerly a clear, smooth skin this ugly skin ailment appears and often for ten or fifteen years the life of the individual—home, school, business, social—is spoiled and he or she develops an inferiority complex that prevents financial and social progress.

Physicians, recognizing the fact that acne appears just at the time that the boy and girl are emerging into manhood and womanhood, are agreed that certain glands aside from the sex glands are not doing their work correctly or completely particularly the pituitary gland lying on the floor of the skull. The result is that certain foodstuffs, starch foods more than others, are not completely used so that changes occur in the skin itself and to some extent in the oil in the glands which is used to keep the skin soft and pliable. The little depressions in the skin holding the oil get filled with hardened skin thus preventing the oil coming out on skin.

I have spoken before of the 15 cases reported by Dr. Charles H. Lawrence in the Journal of the American Medical Association in which the extract of the pituitary gland gave splendid results. Fifteen cases was not many but Dr. Lawrence now reports another series of 30 cases where the extract of the anterior or front part of the pituitary gland was used successfully.

For some time it was believed that the thyroid gland was at fault in acne as thyroid extract speeds up the body processes. It was thought that this gland was not producing enough juice. However Dr. Lawrence by making metabolism tests found that the thyroid gland in acne cases was supplying the normal amount of juice.

It would thus be good sense in the treatment of acne to try to find out and avoid the various foods that are not handled properly by the body. The results obtained by Dr. Lawrence by the use of anterior pituitary extract may cause other physicians to try this treatment for this mean ailment.

Food Allergy.

"What is one man's food is another man's poison" is an old saying but the truth of it is being proved almost daily by leading research physicians throughout the world. Some individuals are oversensitive to certain foods and will have colds in their heads, "snuffy" nose, skin eruptions, pains in the stomach or abdomen when they eat those foods, while other people suffer no ill effects eating the same foods. "Food Allergy," booklet (No. 104) by Dr. Barton, tells how to discover the offending foods and what to do about them. You may obtain this booklet by sending ten cents, to cover mailing and service, to The Bell Library, 217 West 14th Street, New York City. Mention The Kingston Daily Freeman when writing.

SYNOPSIS: Abducted from Baltimore on Prescott Fanning's yacht, Janet goes aboard to Neil, a young federal agent who loves her. He dares to Absalom's Harbor, boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neil hides her nearby in a disused liner, then joins Mark Boninger, keen local investigator, in keeping her on developments. He thinks Janet still Fanning until he learns a man was hiding in a closet on the yacht. Then he suspects and quizzes queer little Eyster, who hated Fanning. Also in the picture are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer down to fish, and Ira Buckless, a tough who has been trailing Neil.

Chapter 26

Following Eyster's Clue

"FANNING used to go to a fine apartment house on Charles Street Avenue," Eyster said. "Sometimes I see him go in. Sometimes I picked him up coming out. I don't know who he went to see there. I got thrown out when I went in to ask. I wasn't the kind of looking guy who could go in such a house. But you could."

"This sounded like a valuable lead to Neil. 'What's the number of the house?'" he asked.

"3420 Charles Street Avenue," Neil made a mental note of the number. He took out his pipe and blew through it. "Stopped up. Got anything to clean it with?"

"I use a nail," Eyster said, grinning. "You find it on the bureau."

When he got his pipe going, Neil said: "Well, I must be moving on."

"Don't go!" pleaded Eyster. "Tell me more about Fanning. Did he see you coming? Did he say anything?"

Prudence warned Neil to string him along. "Don't like to talk about it," he muttered.

A look of doubt appeared in Eyster's face. "It was you smoked Fanning, wasn't it?"

"You wouldn't expect me to admit it in so many words, would you?" Neil answered grinning.

Eyster's face cleared. "Not! Not! You don't have to admit anything to me, fellow! You're all right! You're a grand guy!"

Neil went downstairs rubbing his head with the theory that he had so hopefully erected and now was already tottering. But it had not fallen. He was far from convinced that Eyster had not shot Fanning.

He found Boninger in the little office back of the store, engulged in the details of his job. Messengers were continually coming and going, reports arriving from the local search parties and by phone from the state police in other counties. Boninger was making arrangements to have the harbor dragged for a body.

Neil's whole attitude toward the case had changed now. Satisfied that Janet was in no way implicated, he was as keen to solve the mystery as Boninger was. Also, now he could let his real liking for Boninger come out.

"Look, Mark," he said. "If we could find out what Fanning was up to in Baltimore, we could go a long step forward. It would lead us direct to the solution."

"Well, I'm not sure I can go as far as that with you," Boninger said, smiling at his enthusiasm.

"But at that, it's important. I have a man on the job, but he hasn't got anywhere."

"Suppose I go up to town and look into it, outside of what anybody else is doing," said Neil.

"Fanning had become a kind of public figure and I ought to be able to pick up something."

Certainly it was good of you to suggest it," said Boninger. "I hate to cut in on your vacation."

"Not at all," said Neil. "I'm interested in this."

"All right. I'll give you a police car and a constable to drive you. Get something to eat first."

The Stoop-Shouldered Man

NEILL ordered an early lunch in the hotel, and sat down to eat it in such a position that he could watch all that came and went in the lobby adjoining. It was crowded, but presently he distinguished a stout, portly man, dressed in a dark suit, who came in from the street, carrying a briefcase, and who went to the door.

Finally his search was rewarded. Through the door from outside came a great hulking figure with a head of curly hair, a small, and repulsive flattened features.

As soon as Neil laid eyes on him he guessed that this was his man. When the milling crowd opened sufficiently for him to get a look at his feet, he saw crumbs of loose earth clinging to the big shoes.

The man pushed through to the desk to ask a question and afterwards turned to enter the bar on the other side where beer and soft drinks were sold. When he presented his back Neil received another shock. He had seen that back before, with shorters so heavy they were bowed under their own weight, letting the arms hang down in front like an ape's.

The stoop-shouldered man! Here was the substance of the shadow that had dogged Neil from the start. He had not yet spotted Neil. A solitary, sullen man. He spoke to nobody, and when others gazed at him, he made no effort to hide his size, he made believe not to hear. He drank his beer alone. Probably playing a lone hand, Neil figured. Eyster knows him, but he is in terror of him. Certainly it must have been one or another of these two who had shot Fanning.

When he had finished eating, Neil strolled out and paused at the desk. "Wicksey," he asked "who is the big fellow at the bar—the stoop-shouldered man?"

"That's the guy you was asking about this morning. Ira Buckless is the name."

"When did he come?"

"Late Tuesday night."

"How did he get to Absalom's?"

"I couldn't tell you, mister. I just see him walk in the door. The hotel keeper's face sharpened with curiosity. 'Why do you ask?'"

"Oh, nothing. Thought I had seen him before somewhere."

As Neil made his way to the door, Buckless happened to turn and their eyes met. An ugly look came into the big man's face; hatred and defiance. That look said: Well you know me and I know you! What are you going to do about it? And Neil had to take it. He and Janet were in this man's power.

He paused on the porch to think things through. He was not so keen to go to Baltimore. Still, he thought, it's clear that Buckless isn't afraid of me. He's not going to run away. I'll only be gone a few hours and I may be able to bring back the proof I need. He went down the steps.

A Rich Old Lady

AT TWO o'clock Neil was deposited at the door of a handsome modern apartment house on Baltimore's finest street. The doorman and the elevator boy were negroes. Neil showed them the photographs of Fanning, but they shook their heads. Never had seen such a person, they said. After all, the photographs of a dead man do not convey much.

"I know he was a frequent visitor to somebody in this house," said Neil. "Picture a man six feet two, dark, light, slim and broad shouldered, dark hair and eyes, rosy skin, very fine looking. Always elegantly dressed, fond of unusual shirts and cravats."

The two negroes glanced at each other, grinning. "Miss Rayner's friend," they said.

"Who is Miss Rayner?"

"Don't know," said the older Emma Rayner, boss. Everybody knows her. One of the richest women in Baltimore. She real old now, and never goes out no more." They looked at the photographs again.

"That's the gentleman what come to see her all right, but he look different when he's dead."

"Well, most of us do," said Neil. "What name did he give when he came here?"

"Didn't give no name."

"Don't you have to send the names up?"

"Yes sir, boss. But the first time he come somebody brought him, and after that we was told to show him up whenever he come."

"What other gentlemen callers has Miss Rayner had recently?"

"Nobody but her lawyer, Mr. Osgood, and her agent, Mr. Barney."

"I'll make a memo. 'Well, show me up now,' he said."

The negroes hesitated, but he faced them down. The door of Miss Rayner's apartment was opened by a neat colored maid.

"Do Miss Rayner know you?" she asked.

"I don't use then. Miss Rayner see no gentlemen callers she don't know."

"Tell her it is somebody from Mr. Prescott Fanning."

She presently returned saying: "Nease to stay this way, sir."

Neil was introduced to an immense living room crowded from end to end with the furnishings and gimcracks that old ladies like to gather around them. Though it was a fine June day, all the windows were closed and there was a little wood fire burning. At first he thought he was alone in the room, but presently he distinguished a tiny figure buried in a deep chair before the fire. She looked about 80, but her sunken cheeks were bravely painted and she wore an elaborately curled burn wig.

"You come from Mr. Fanning?" she asked eagerly. "I was expecting to hear from him."

Neil was considerably taken aback, because she spoke of Fanning in the present tense. "He was a friend of yours?" he stammered.

"I know him, certainly. What would you have thought?"

"This was uncanny. 'How long have you known him?' she asked. Neil, sparring for time.

"Oh, several months," he said impatiently. "What's that got to do with it?"

"Who introduced you to him?"

Miss Rayner sat up. "Young man, I don't know you. I don't propose to be cross-examined by a stranger in my own house! Who are you and what do you want?"

THE PROBLEM OF KEEPING A BALANCE AT BOTH ENDS

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 13—Charles Griffith, and family, of Wallington, N. J., were guests last week at the home of Mr. Griffith's uncle, Claude Rose.

Don Jackson is again driving the big Dairyland milk truck which supplies retailers in this part of the county.

Mrs. Robert Mahr, of Brooklyn, spent a few days last week at the Wallerstein summer home in the village.

Clement Smith, and family, have moved from Rosendale to rooms in the Winchell house on the corner. Mr. Smith has employment with the Lane Construction Company.

Miss Eleanor Grant, who taught school at Shady last winter, is now in charge of the Mt. Tremper school.

Mr. Hans J. Cohn and Mrs. Cohn are spending their annual vacation in Asbury Park, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Gearon plan to close their country home, "Windridge," tomorrow, preparatory to returning to Brooklyn.

The big job of raising the building at the former GCO camp at Boiceville is being continued by a force of 35 corps members from Tannersville who have torn down two barracks and piled the lumber, windows, etc., for shipment to one of the government storage bases. There is a mascot at the temporary quarters of the young men, a black Great Dane having been picked up recently by one of the fellows along Route 28.

Members of the Edward C. Bostock family, together with chauffeur and household staff, left the Bostock summer home on the mountain road Friday and returned to Bryn Athyn, Pa.

Miss Carol Wirmann, of Newark, N. J., is a guest at the home of Mrs. Mabel Robeson and family on the hill road to Boiceville.

A marriage of September 15, 1910 was that which united Joseph Burgher to Bessie Wilson, both of Boiceville. The couple were married by the Rev. Charles G. Gorse, pastor of the Shokan M. E. Church. Mr. and Mrs. Burgher for a time resided in the old village of Shokan and more recently they have made their home in Highland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Iverson, who with Mr. and Mrs. J. Card have been occupying the Harry Olsen lodge for several days, returned Saturday from a motor trip to Connecticut.

Burr Elmendorf, cutting down a diseased soft maple shade tree on the Elmendorf homestead lawn in the village center recently, found both heart and sap-wood of the tree infested with worms, which, according to Joseph Atken, were introduced from eggs laid in the upper branches of the tree. The ravages of the pest had induced a rot extending well throughout the bole of the tree, causing the foliage to turn and fall prematurely.

Fred Weeds, mountain road coal dealer, is doing a good coal and trucking business this season.

Mrs. Macel Embler and son, John, returned to their home in Washington, D. C., Friday, after spending several days with Mrs. Jennie Green.

A number of local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, together with some of their friends, plan to attend the postponed picnic of the two orders in the Morrison pine Grove near Traver Hollow next Sunday.

Joseph Reilly and Joseph Block returned to New York last week after having kept bachelor's hall for several weeks in the Reilly summer home here.

Eugene Gormley, Phenicia hotel proprietor, was a business caller in these parts Thursday. Mr. Gormley, having stored some 75 tons of hay at his farm in Shandaken, was looking for a bunch of young cattle to keep through the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Vohnick, who were married September 5, in Poughkeepsie, visited Mrs. Vohnick's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Giles, last week. The young couple will make their home in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Robert B. Peck is numbered among the few summer residents who are remaining to enjoy the early autumn weather and scenery. Robert Peck, Jr., is returning this week from Nevada where he spent the summer months.

Week-end travelers to Kingston report comparatively smooth driving on the Plank Road construction detours, the only serious drawback to this route now being the heavy dust which is stirred up by passing and preceding cars. The long stretch of completed concrete looks good to our folks, many of whom make the trip to town several times a week, and hope to be rolling on four lanes, come first snowfall.

Old residents were sorry to learn of the death last week of Jesse B. Boice, for whom funeral services were held Friday at Kerhonkson. Mr. Boice, while proprietor of a gristmill at Bishop's Falls for many years, was an attendant of the Shokan Reformed Church.

The Rebekah-Odd Fellow picnic will be held at the Morrison grove at Boiceville on September 19. In event of rain it will be held at the Olive Bridge I. O. O. F. Hall. Friends as well as members will be cordially welcomed.

ULSTER PARK

Ulster Park, September 14—Clarence Wells, school tax collector of District No. 2, will receive taxes at his home from September 13 to October 13, after 30 days 5 per cent will be added.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a food sale at the home of Mrs. Clarence Wells Friday afternoon, September 17, at 1:30 o'clock.

Raymond Quick left this morning to attend Colgate College. Holt Winfield, Jr., also left for Rhode Island State College.

Donald Herring and Ralph Wells spent the week-end in Schenectady.

Captain and Mrs. William K. Runk of Hoboken called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wells Sunday.

Mrs. James Raymond and son, Daniel, who have been spending a few days with Mrs. Hiram Jones, have returned to Mohonk.

WHAT TO DO—

If Caught in a Severe Lightning Storm

1. If there's a choice of shelter, run for it.
 A. A large metal or metal-frame building—because it's grounded.
 B. A building protected by independently grounded lightning rods.
 C. A large unprotected building.
 D. A small unprotected building.
2. Once inside, keep away from the radio, telephone, overhead wires, electric light circuits, screened doors and windows if open, stove, fireplace, lightning conductors, downspouts, bath tub.
3. If unavoidably out-of-doors, stay away from isolated trees, wire fences, hill tops, wide open spaces, small sheds in exposed spots. Best bet: Head for thick timber, a cave, depression in the ground, deep valley or canyon, or vicinity of steep cliff.

(By The AP Feature Service)
 Lightning kills about 500 persons a year in the United States and injures an estimated 1,300.

But actual danger from it is small, says W. H. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety Council in Chicago, except when a person exposes himself to the outdoors danger spots listed above. And he usually can avoid these.

Lightning clips nine-tenths of its victims in rural districts; rarely anyone in a modern home or office.

It's a good idea to stay out of

MODENA

Modena, Sept. 13—Fruit growers in this section are employing a number of people to pick, pack and truck apples for them for this season. Apples are being hauled to the Clintondale cold storage plant, and a number of buyers from New Jersey are making frequent trips in this section and trucking the fruit to New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith and Miss Marguerite Smith were recent visitors of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Guice and family at Treadwell.

Mrs. Ransel Wager was in New Paltz Wednesday afternoon.

The Rev. and Mrs. Philip Solberg have a new car.

Grand Jurors Meet For September; Dayton, Foreman

A. V. Dayton of New Paltz was selected by County Judge Frederick G. Traver as foreman of the grand jury and Walter J. Margraf of Lloyd was named acting foreman when the grand jurors assembled Monday afternoon for service with the September term of county court. All members of the panel but one responded when the roll was called. Solomon LeFevre of Gardiner failed to answer and later Judge Traver excused Albert A. Dowe, Henry Erichsen, Arker Kelder and Edward Rush when they presented legal excuses and asked to be excused from service at this time.

All of the trial jurors were present, including eight women, the first ever drawn in the county, but three of them asked to be excused from service and since women may exercise the right to be excused without question, they were excused. Sadie Brogan of Haverhill, Katherine Knoll of Haverhill and Lillian Sheeley of Wauarsing were the three who were excused. Lillian Sheeley asked the court to have her name taken from the list but Judge Traver informed her that he did not believe he had such power and he suggested she take the matter up with her local officials. Seven of the male members of the jury were asked when they presented legal excuses.

An attempt to make up a day calendar of civil cases for some day this week failed and Judge Traver then made up the following calendar for next Monday at 2 o'clock:

Nos. 1, 5, 25, 26, 31, 32, 33 and 34.

The calendar of civil cases will again be called next Monday afternoon.

Five cases on the civil calendar were announced as settled on the call as follows:

Max Kaplan vs. Raymond Cardone, goods sold and delivered.

Eugene Livingston, Silas S. LeFevre, co-partners doing business under the name of Livingston & LeFevre, vs. David Samuels, money judgment for goods sold and delivered.

Eliza Baker vs. Charles W. Merrill and Arthur J. Burns, action on contract and for money had and received.

Joseph Dirago and James Dirago, doing business as Dirago Bros., vs. Alfred Roehrs, Norman Cole and Huck Fulton, doing business as Roehrs, Cole and Fulton, appeal from justice's court.

H. E. Shaw Company vs. George P. Muller, action for goods sold and delivered.

Grant Sheeley vs. Barbara Hornaker and Edgar DeForce, the foreclosure of mortgage's lien.

James S. Murphy and Lucy Murphy vs. Jacob C. Schultz, negligence.

Raymond Rellly vs. William Devo.

Frank Fabiano vs. Angelo Fiorino, et al.

One case was added to the calendar, No. 58, Harry Feinberg, administrator, vs. Charles Brauer, an action on note.

Criminal matters will not be taken up until November when trial work will be held. District Attorney Cleon B. Murray is engaged before the grand jury this month and before the Supreme Court grand jury in October.

Frank Carpino and Nicholas Turk, who pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property some time ago for the setting afire of an unoccupied house on North street, were sentenced to six months in the county jail and the sentence was suspended during good behavior. They have been on probation for some time and the reports have been good. In imposing sentence Judge Traver said that upon the recommendation of the district attorney and the reports from the probation officer he was going to suspend further probation. Ball in both cases was exonerated. J. Edward Conway and Frank Campochiaro appeared for the two lads.

Court recessed until Monday, September 20, at 2 p. m.

Monogram Signature in Use Since Earliest Days

Monograms in the form of a single sign, representing a name, have been used since civilization began. They were man's first attempt at a signature, crude efforts to imprint individuality upon objects, or to proclaim ownership. More elaborate ones composed of the several initials of a name have been found upon medals and seals of Sicily and Macedonia. Popes, emperors, kings and queens of the Middle Ages used them in lieu of signatures, notes a writer in the New York Times.

In Japan initial monograms, or those involving the full name, made up in the form of seals, are in general use for signing prints, letters, contracts, bills, receipts, etc.

The work of the early artists, engravers and craftsmen of Germany, Flanders and many European cities, was signed solely with the initials of their makers, which were frequently interwoven with figures of symbolic character.

The most common form of monogram is the square, which represents the foundation, principles of life, or the circle, the line of perfection, which, like the Infinite, is without beginning or end, and encloses all. Some of the simplest ones are a primitive sort of shorthand. A rebus forming a pun upon a man's name was once extremely popular in England. Pictorial signatures also were once common there, as for instance the letter W between crude sketches of an M and a bridge, which stands for Oxbridge.

Ladies' Day at Wiltwyck

Ladies' Day will be held Wednesday at the Wiltwyck Golf Club.

Near-by Projects Are Shelved

New post office projects for Highland and New Paltz in Ulster county, and Millbrook, Pawling, Red Hook and Wappingers Falls in Dutchess county, listed recently for construction, have been eliminated from the federal building program for the next three years, according to information obtained at the procurement division of the treasury department in Washington.

It was also learned that the allotment of $75,000 for the proposed new Rhinebeck post office, less than $64,000 will be actually available for construction.

Highland and New Paltz had been recommended for new post offices in a report sent the house of representatives committee earlier in the year by the treasury department. The proposed estimates of cost for the projects were: Highland, $70,000, and New Paltz, $75,000.

Shelving of the Highland and New Paltz projects does not mean that the need for new buildings is no longer recognized, but that the money appropriated was to be used for more urgent projects.

Y. M. AUXILIARY

MET LAST FRIDAY

The Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held its regular monthly meeting at the "Y" on Friday afternoon, September 10, the president, Mrs. George DuBois, presiding. Mrs. W. A. Longyear led the devotional service, and asked that members volunteer to lead the devotions at coming meetings.

Routine business was transacted and reports given. The recent clamaback was reported as very successful and it is expected a good amount will be realized, to be divided between the Auxiliary and the "Y" Couples Club. Thanks is extended to all who helped with donations or other assistance.

Plans were discussed for the fall work, and for a membership contest to be started at the next meeting. It was decided to hold a rummage sale the latter part of this month, and the store at 556 Broadway has been secured for this purpose. All members of the Auxiliary and of the Couples Club are asked to contribute to this sale, and notify the "Y" office if articles are to be called for.

Several new members were welcomed by the president, and Secretary Sisson introduced Mr. Bookwalter, the new Boys Work secretary, who offered his services to the Auxiliary, and Mrs. DuBois promised him the support of the women in his work.

Divine Angels Are Barred from New Heaven in Veteran

The latter part of last week some of Father Divine's angels were barred from entering into and taking possession of a new heaven which had recently been purchased in the heart of the hamlet of Saugerties. The new heaven recently acquired by the negro cult leader was that owned by Dominick Greco of Mt. Marion.

The property in Veteran was bought by John Delay of Rosendale, who has acted for Father Divine in the acquisition of many of the Ulster county heavens.

The Greco property in Veteran consists of a house, which adjoins the general store of Bert Frisbie, and is a large two story frame building, having two living apartments, one on the first and the other on the second floor. A portion of the first floor up to a few years ago was used as a general store. More recently it has been used by Charles Egnor, who peddles fruit and vegetables throughout the county, to store his produce in. The property runs back from the Woodstock state road for a considerable distance. It is located directly in the heart of the hamlet.

The two families occupying the house, Lester Vole and Lewis Fowler, it is said, were given two days notice to vacate the premises but up until yesterday they were still in possession.

Last Friday night about 10 o'clock an auto loaded with angels arrived in front of the house. They had brought cots and household furnishings, but met determined opposition both from the occupants of the house and a crowd of residents of Veteran. The occupants of the house contended that they were entitled to a longer notice than two days in which to seek new quarters. When opposition developed the angels piled back into their auto and drove off toward the nearest heaven, the former Bennink farm at Blue Mountain.

On Saturday the same group of angels again appeared in Veteran and again were barred from entering the new heaven.

Missouri Shows Way

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Grover A. Whalen, president of the World Fair here in 1939, today said a trip abroad convinced him European statesmen were neither expecting nor planning for an immediate general war. Whalen, who returned yesterday on the Normandie, said 40 foreign nations have agreed to enter exhibits. Missouri, yesterday became the first state to contract for exhibit space.

Bolshevism Drive Planned by Reich

Nurnberg, Germany, Sept. 14 (AP)—The third Reich's foreign policy was aimed today by Reichsfuehrer Hitler at intervention "wherever Bolshevism appears in Europe."

Such a policy, he told 16,000 cheering Nazis last night at the close of the eight-day party congress, is dictated by the "naked necessity of sustaining the very life of the German people."

The chancellor frankly admitted Germany's aid to the Spanish insurgents, and sought to justify past and future intervention by a bread-and-butter motive based on the Reich's instinct of self-preservation.

Germany has no colonial empire, he said, therefore Germany must trade with other European countries or perish. If the roads of Bolshevism threaten that trade, he argued, Germany intends to intervene.

Hitler said Germany did not intend to surrender her interests in Spain—"We cannot be indifferent as to who wins." He said Germany saw in Francisco Franco's regime "an enduring Spain" and in the Valencia government "the mercenaries of Moscow."

Anarchists Seize Gijon in Asturias

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish border, Sept. 14 (AP)—Anarchists have made a coup d'etat at Gijon, lone Spanish government coastal stronghold in the northwest, and have set up an Asturian dictatorship. Insurgent officers announced at Irún today.

Secret military advisers said Belarmino Tomas, an Anarchist, headed the movement.

He issued a decree breaking off relations with the Spanish Central Government and setting up a separate Anarchist state in Asturias, with himself the dictator.

Kingstonians at State Assembly Of Master Masons

A number of local people attended the 114th annual assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the State of New York which was held at Saratoga Springs, Sunday and Monday of this week. Most of the delegates arrived Sunday along with visitors and registered at the Hotel New Worden, Sunday afternoon. The Grand Council opened Monday morning in Masonic Hall and ended Monday evening with a grand banquet at the Hotel New Worden.

Among the distinguished visitors who attended the session and gave short talks during the sessions were: Jacob C. Klink, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M., of the State of New York; Carl G. Wilhelm, Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter R. A. M., State of New York; Chalmers L. Hancock, Grand Commander of Knights Templar of the State of New York; John B. Mullin, Deputy for New York Supreme Council for New York of Scottish Rite Masons, and Grand Recorder of Knights Templar of New York State; Charles H. Johnson, Deputy Grand Master of America and Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of New York and also the Grand Masters of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Ladies attending the session were conducted on a tour including Yaddo and the Spa Chauncey Olcotts and Grant Cottage with luncheon served at the McGregor Links.

Those who attended from Kingston were Herbert Markie, master of Kingston Lodge, and Mrs. Markie, Peter R. Crawford, deputy, and Mrs. Crawford, Harold F. Davis, principal conductor of work, W. Frank Davis, recorder, Charles H. Young, treasurer, and Mrs. Young and Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Everett.

The Grand Council accepted an invitation from Phoenix Council, Mt. Vernon, to hold their next annual Grand Assembly in Mt. Vernon, on August 28, 1938.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are:

Grand master, Charles B. Wedler, Mt. Vernon, deputy grand master, E. Parker Waggoner, Buffalo; grand principal conductor of the work, Edward Felt, Bronx.

Grand K. Mason, Jamestown; grand recorder, George Edward Hatch, Rochester; grand captain of the guard, Chester D. Crowell, Syracuse; grand conductor of the council, Harlan S. Perrigo, New York;

Rivers to Abolish State Chain Gangs

Albany, Sept. 14 (AP)—Less than a dozen states permit corporal punishment of prisoners, and the use of shackles is on the wane.

This was shown today in an unofficial survey of prison systems of various states as Governor L. D. Rivers announced a plan to abolish Georgia's chain gangs.

Authoritative sources said the governor's announcement meant that Georgia would not restore the lash for punishing convicts, as was suggested by several prison officials to curb widespread chain gang escapes.

Rivers said the plan, to be presented to the legislature in November, also called for employment of a trained expert to run the prison system, conversion of chain gangs into model camps for honor men, and a ban on use of shackles and chains.

X-RAY CURES ANNOUNCED FOR VARIETY OF AILMENTS

Chicago, Sept. 14 (AP)—Persons suffering from backache, chronic sinus infection, boils, ringworm, acne and athlete's foot were promised a new quick remedy by X-ray and radium specialists attending the Fifth International Congress of Radiology.

The physicians who reported successful treatment of these almost universal ailments with X-rays and radium admitted freely that their claims sounded like those made for patent medicines. They brought forth thousands of cases, however, to prove that the electrons shooting from radium and X-rays can do things which no other medical treatment will accomplish.

Hudson Area Brick Is Advanced $1 at Docks in New York

Stocks opened strong Monday, but later there was heavy liquidation and record losses, industrial on the Dow-Jones average hitting 154.34. They closed substantially above the day's lows, with industrials at 158, a decline of 1.36 points for the day. The rail average for the day was off 1.57 points, closing at 40.77. Utilities were down 0.50 point, to 24.35. Speculative and second grade bonds declined sharply. The only apparent response to the federal reserve board's moves to assure easy money conditions was the increase in the price of government bonds, which were up as much as 10-22.

Commodities turned downward, wheat, cotton and cottonseed oil futures hitting new lows for the season. Domestic sugar futures declined.

London and Paris markets closed inactive and weak, Amsterdam Bourse was firm. Of local interest is the statement that Hudson river brick manufacturers have advanced prices $1 a thousand to $12 at the dock in New York. The price has been $11 since last spring when there was a rise of $1. The 12 per cent increase last month to brickyard workers made an increase in price imperative. It is declared that the present advance will fall far short of putting the industry on a profitable basis. Brick consumption this year is reported running below a year ago, although sales of the trade to date this year are said to be about 38 per cent higher than for the corresponding period last year. With output ahead of consumption there has been a steady increase of stocks on hand. The Hudson valley area last year accounted for about 18 per cent of the country's total sales.

The action of the IFC on the plea of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway for indefinite delay in that road's reorganization, is awaited with interest, as giving a clue to the future policy of the commission regarding immediate reorganization of bankrupt roads. There are at the present time some 30 or more railroads in the hands of court-appointed trustees.

After a three months' decline new orders for machine tools showed a gain in August, over July. Tool and die firms depending largely upon the automobile industry report a sudden upturn in orders.

Chemical sales are showing a decline and so far during the third quarter are doing a little more than breaking even with the same period a year ago. During the June quarter they were running from 25 to 30 per cent of the same quarter in 1936. With increased costs profit margins are probably below last year.

N. Y. O. & W. showed loss of $93,366 in July compared with income of $91,839 in July, 1936. Department of Commerce estimated daily average sales of city stores for August at about 3 per cent over a year ago, but a more seasonal decline from July.

Buick has spent $10,000,000 on plant expansion and retooling for 1938 model. President Curcio said. Now has an annual capacity of 300,000 units.

Philco Radio and Television reports a 100 per cent increase in its parts business every month over 1936 month, since early part of the year.

The treasury is said to be planning some new kind of certificate to take the place of its weekly bill offerings after October 1. Purpose is to tap the large accumulations of idle bank funds held by so-called "country banks," which have steadily refused to bid on treasury bills.

Business loans of member banks in 101 cities gained $50,000,000 in week ended September 8; brokers' loans declined $29,000,000.

Pressed Steel Car declared full year dividends of 25 cents in full preferred, $2.50 on second preferred and 25 cents on common.

Better Business Black Silent as This Fall, Predicts Imperial Wizard Roger W. Babson "Backs" Copeland

Boston, Sept. 14 (AP)—An improvement in general business this fall was forecast today by Roger W. Babson, statistician and economist, in an address to the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Babson said, a careful study of business cross currents showed, furthermore, that "for the next year or two at the least the favorable factors far outweigh the unfavorable factors."

"General business," said Babson, "is bound to be better this fall than last fall. With our tremendous crops nothing can stop it. Farmers, wage workers and stockholders will all have more money to spend. I am forecasting no boom, but I do promise business improvement."

"When the federal reserve board and other administration agencies give business a crack, as they did this spring, they really prolong the current period of prosperity. You can retard the flow of water by a dam; but this does not destroy the water; the same principle applies to prosperity."

Of bonds, Babson said, "we are in a gradually declining bond market," adding "high grade bonds have seen their peak." He expressed the opinion that "people who are now buying certain non-convertible low rate issues are crazy."

He expressed himself as "bullish" on stocks for the next few months.

"Although the present technical reaction may not have yet run its full course, it is very dangerous to go short of stock today," he said.

Certain stocks, he asserted, would sell much higher and "if the country enters a period of inflation, the bull market has only just started."

Babson said, however, he could not understand "why any sane investor will buy individual stocks today on the big board at quoted prices when, by buying the stocks of certain investment trusts, he can get the same stocks for 20 per cent less."

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black maintained complete silence in London today on allegations that he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, as Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans reiterated Black's name is not on the rolls of the organization and former Governor Alfred E. Smith planned to join the controversy.

Evans asserted in Atlanta that attacks on the newly appointed justice and former United States Senator from Alabama were "simply the result of a New York political issue."

"This is just like any other political fight," he said. "When a candidate sees he is going to be defeated he begins to rake hot coals. It will be all over when the votes are counted and they will know how Copeland was beat."

He referred to New York's Democratic Senator, Royal S. Copeland, candidate for mayor with Smith's support, who said of Black, "In all honor and decency he should resign at once."

Copeland's headquarters announced that Smith, Tammany sachem, who took the stump last night in behalf of Copeland's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor, had declined to comment on a newspaper article that he had been a member of the Klan, had resigned and subsequently had become a life member.

The article which precipitated the new verbal storm originated with the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and was distributed by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Evans Lends "Support"
Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 14 (AP)—Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans of the Ku Klux Klan said today the Klan "supported" Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, in his 1938 senatorial race.

Evans' statement followed assertions by Senator Copeland, a candidate for mayor of New York, that Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black "should resign at once" in view of allegations he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan. Evans said attacks on Black are "simply the result of a New York political issue."

Wizard Evans declared: "Senator Copeland is a good friend of mine and I think he is the best candidate in a bad lot seeking the New York mayorship." Earlier he had predicted Senator Copeland would be defeated.

The Klan chieftain refused to say whether Justice Black wore the white robe of klanmen.

"I know he is not a member now," he asserted. "I have more to do than ramble through millions of membership cards to find out if he ever held membership."

"Owes It to President"
Clinton, Mass., Sept. 14 (AP)—Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.), today declared Justice Hugo Black, of the United States Supreme Court, "owes it to the President, the Senate and the country to publicly declare whether or not he is a member of the Klan and to indicate in unmistakable language his repudiation of the Ku Klux Klan and its principles."

Any action in the Black appointment now must come from the President, declared Walsh, Massachusetts' senior senator. He suggested that President Roosevelt could ask an impartial agency to investigate "the alleged new evidence that he (Black) is a klan member" and if it were found to be true, could "ask for his resignation."

Senator Walsh yesterday referred to published reports that Black had accepted a life membership in the Klan with a statement that if he had not resigned such a life membership the President should ask for his resignation.

Little Tramp "Dies"
Hollywood, Sept. 14 (AP)—A little tramp with baggy pants, gargantuan footwear and toothbrush mustache is no more, Charles Chaplin announced today. The tramp says his Swan Song, a jumbled lyric in "Modern Times" after a career that stretched back to 1913. After a decade of evading talking pictures, the comedian admitted he has decided to attempt the transition from pantomime to speech. "I cannot say how soon the story will be ready—a year, perhaps," Chaplin said. "Miss Paulette Goddard will appear with me."

9 Nations Sign Anti-Piracy Pact

ult of the Nyon anti-piracy conference.

Investia, the government organ, pointed out that the Mediterranean patrol plan "does not deprive the Soviet Union of the right to carry out independent action to defend merchant shipping against any interference on the open sea."

This was interpreted by foreign circles as an indication Soviet warships would be sent into the Mediterranean proper to convoy Russian freighters only if the mysterious piratical attacks continue.

(The Nyon plan, as disclosed in advance of the signing of the nine-power protocol today, would assign the Black Sea to Russia as her patrol zone but permit convoys for merchantmen.)

Pravda, the Communist party organ, asserted that, while Britain and France called the Nyon conference, the results were obtained only through outspoken activity of the Soviet Union which formally accused Italy of two submarine attacks on Soviet cargo ships.

As a "first step" toward collective resistance to aggression, Pravda went on, "the agreement is marked with reserve and incompleteness."

The newspaper said "such bunk" as the limitation of international reprisals to submarines violating the rules of "humane warfare" leaves a wide loophole and "we can say in advance that the Italian bandits and submarines will use their gap for an attempt to legalize sea robbers."

British Double Strength
London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Great Britain more than doubled her Mediterranean fighting strength to hunt down and sink submarine pirates today. New admiralty orders disclosed she will have 90 warships in the inland sea within a few days, compared with a regular patrol of 42.

The latest orders sent ten men of war from home waters into the Mediterranean, to cooperate with an augmented French fleet in the piracy patrol.

The fourth destroyer flotilla, composed of eight destroyers, a light cruiser and a flotilla leader, was commanded to be ready to sail to the Mediterranean from England.

Nearly 2,000 dairy farmers in New York state, who have been cooperating with the federal and state departments in the control and elimination of Bang's disease from their herds are now eligible to receive federal and state indemnities for reacting cattle, says C. G. Bradt of the college of agriculture at Cornell.

The state indemnities were recently made available by the state legislature through an appropriation of $300,000.

Carnright to Head Boy Scout Drive

R. F. Overbagh, president of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, announces that John F. Carnright, vice president of the Ulster-Greene Council, has accepted the general chairmanship of the Boy Scout finance campaign for Ulster and Greene counties, which will take place during the month of October.

Mr. Carnright said after accepting this responsibility that he felt sure that the people of Ulster and Greene counties appreciate fully the necessity of such work as Scouting for boys and would respond wholeheartedly to the call to meet the council's need. Mr. Carnright also said that the past year in Scouting had been by far the greatest year in the history of the Council, with the membership reaching a new high, more communities being served by the Council than in the past, and the activities for the year much greater than previous years including not only the indoor rallies but also the big outdoor Camp-O-Ree, the National Jamboree and the summer camp in which many hundreds of Scouts participated as well as the pleasures of the immediate job right now.

Mr. Carnright, "is the setting up of our organization, the securing of district and local leaders and workers so that everything will be in readiness for the opening of the first week in October of the area campaign and the second week for the City of Kingston."

SCHOOL LESSONS VIA RADIO AND PRESS

The wave of infantile paralysis kept thousands of children from classrooms in Chicago and the newspapers and radio were used to bring the lessons to the pupils. Here is a typical scene in the mid-western city with mother keeping a close watch to see that little Johnnie doesn't turn the dials to a more "interesting" program.

Broadway: "Broadway Melody of 1938" stars Robert Taylor and Eleanor Powell with a cast that is virtually an all-star aggregation. An amusing story supports a lavish setting with Miss Powell, loyal to her horse-raising father, backing one of his runners. In order to keep the feed box full, she dances in a night club. Taylor, as an earnest young playwright, buys the animal at an auction to save it for her and sure enough, the horse romps home a winner at the big race.

Kingston: "When Thief Meets Thief" and "Forlorn River". A melodrama of gigantic proportions comes to the Kingston in the English made opening feature with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the starring assignment. It is the story of a group of crooks who play a desperate game only to be trapped in the final reckoning. "Forlorn River" is a typical Zane Grey western thriller for it bristles with action and gunfire all the way. Ruster Crabbe, June Marjall and Harvey Stephens head the players.

Orpheum: "Girls Dormitory" and "Abdul the Damned". The first offering at the Orpheum is well worth seeing even if it is old enough to be a little shaky with age. The play introduces Simone Simon to her American audience which gives some idea how long the picture has been making the rounds. It's all about a professor who falls in love with a girl student at his school. "Abdul the Damned" is the associate feature a story of the mystic east with Nita Aster, Adrienne Ames and Fritz Kortner.

Tomorrow
Broadway: "Mr. Dodd Takes The Air." Kenny Baker, who

earned his fame via the radio waves, isn't too much of an actor in his first effort before the camera but he has a grand voice and that helps to make up for his inadequate histrionics. The point of the whole show deals with a corn fed youngster with a grand voice who is discovered and remade into a great radio personality. The songs are nicely sung, the romantic touch well handled by Jane Wyman and Frank McHugh and Gertrude Michael are featured in the cast.

Kingston: "Dance, Charlie Dance" and "The Devil Is Driving." Stuart Erwin, Jean Muir, Allen Jenkins and Glenda Farrell are among the top name players in the comedy part of the Kingston double feature. "The Devil Is Driving" points a neat little moral against those reckless drivers rampant in the nation who disregard lives and win acquittals in courts by bribery. This then is the story of a brilliant lawyer who learns from bitter experience the folly of not pressing punishment upon drunken, reckless driving even though the driver is a personal friend. Richard Dix, Joan Perry, Nana Bryant, Ellisha Cook, Jr., Harry Kolker and John Wray are in the cast.

Orpheum: "Shall We Dance." Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers are to be viewed at the Orpheum in one of their latest and most effective dance romances that possesses all those things essential to fine entertainment. The show has color, lavish set dressings, sparkling comedy and dialogue, well sung songs plus the dancing of Astaire and Rogers. It is recommended to everyone as something to see and hear.

UNION CENTER

Union Center, Sept. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fish and daughters, Patricia and Mary, of Florida, Orange county, Mrs. Emma Fish, of Warwick, and Mrs. Adella Fish, of Walpole, were Labor Day supper guests of Mrs. Dessie Zimmerman and her father, Lemuel Freer.

been some improvements made in the school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palen, of Esopus, and Mrs. Jennie Torpin, of Kingston, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fowler.

Mrs. Marietta Sanford, of Kingston, spent Labor Day with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coutant.

Several from this place attended the flower show at West Park Thursday evening.

THE VLY.

The Vly, Sept. 13.—Evangelistic meetings will be held in the Vly Chapel, starting Thursday, September 16, and will continue for two weeks. Services will begin at 7:30 p. m., E. S. T. There will be singing and playing by the blind evangelist, the Rev. Mr. Williamson and Mrs. Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bleiler and family will return to their home in Brooklyn after spending the summer here on the M. H. Van Demark farm.

Mrs. Charles Hampt and her three sons expect to spend the winter at their home in this place.

Miss Silvia Rydhork of Brooklyn is spending a few weeks at the home of Mrs. Leich.

Roosevelt Returns To White House To Study East, Europe

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt, back in Washington today from an 18-day vacation, called in his cabinet to survey recent happenings in the Far East and Europe.

The meeting of the official family, advanced from Friday, was set for 2 p. m. (E.S.T.) after a luncheon conference with Secretary Hull, who kept the Chief Executive informed on foreign developments during his stay away from the capital.

Following his recent custom of meeting overseas travelers in and out of official life, the President also was expected to talk with Governor George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania, just back from Europe.

Several important decisions confronting the President on his return. For one thing he must decide whether he will make a trip to the west coast late this month to inspect federal projects and sound out sentiment on various administration objectives.

If the President carries out his plans he will return to Hyde Park next Saturday or Sunday after his Friday night address on the Washington monument grounds in celebration of Constitution Day. If he goes west he will leave from his mother's birthplace in Pennsylvania.

Also on the Presidential calendar for the week is a luncheon Thursday with state governors attending their annual meeting at Atlantic City.

Before his Friday night address he will motor to Sharpsburg, Md., for a brief talk at the 75th anniversary celebration of the civil war battle of Antietam.

While at Hyde Park, the President told newspapermen, he put ten to twelve hours a day on his business and has not caught up yet. The first week here was given over almost exclusively to disposing of more than 150 bills passed in the closing days of Congress. He left Washington five days after Congress adjourned.

Says U. S. Needs More on Tax Rolls

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Senator King (D., Utah) expressed his opinion today that Congress will find it necessary to lower income tax exemptions so as to reach more taxpayers.

Tax revision is one of the administration's proposals for the next Congress session.

King said he would propose legislation to "codify and simplify" tax laws, repeal of the capital gains tax and to make material changes in the undistributed profits tax.

He asserted the capital gains tax had not produced substantial revenue and had retarded business activity, while the undistributed profits tax should be changed to permit corporations to make deductions in cases where they are prevented by special circumstances from declaring dividends.

33 Cases Recall Steel Strike Riot

Chicago, Sept. 14 (AP)—Sixty-three cases on the calendar in federal court today reminded Chicago of its industrial nightmare, the Memorial Day steel strike riot which 19 men died.

The defendants were arrested charged with conspiracy to commit an illegal act after the riot, a battle between 200 police and 1,500 strikers and sympathizers in a field near the Republic Steel Corporation plant in Chicago.

Action was postponed while the House and the Senate civil liberties committee in Washington investigated. The Senate committee subpoenaed the Chicago police for testimony while the coroner's jury decided the killings constituted a "justifiable homicide."

The cases were scheduled for trial today but defense counsel asked a continuance would be requested. The steel workers organizing committee strike which began in 1936 and once affected 25,000 hands in this area still continues against Republic Steel.

The mill remained open on a limited production basis throughout the strike and a spokesman said today it was doing virtually all normal. Leaders claimed only half normal force of 2,500 was at work.

New Ocean Airline
New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Plans for a new transatlantic airline, between New York and Lisbon, Portugal, were announced today by M. Eaton, vice president of American Export Airways.

Lehman Calls For Study to Group all Taxation Systems

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP)—Governor Lehman of New York state called upon the conference of governors today to plan coordination of federal, state and local revenue systems without further delay.

"We owe that duty to the taxpayers," he declared. "We can improve the present situation only through effective and close cooperation between federal and state governments and between the several states themselves."

At a round table conference, the governor asserted that "before it is too late we should consider the effects and consequences of conflicting taxation."

"During the last 10 years," he said, "duplicate taxation has mounted at an alarming rate and because of high taxes, amounts in some cases to conflicting taxation. The situation is so serious that it presents a challenge to the ability of the states and the federal government to find a solution."

The right of the states to tax their residents, he said, rested upon a more solid foundation in some instances than the authority of the federal government.

If any state, the governor added, were to tax personal incomes as high as the federal government, the combined taxes would be unbearably high, "and would encourage individual initiative and adversely affect the economy of the nation."

Reasonable Distribution.
"The money needed to pay the aggregate cost of federal and state government," he suggested, "should be raised in such fashion as to secure a reasonable distribution of the load and avoid discouraging the development or enlargement of business enterprises."

"Unless this is done, the economic interests of the nation suffer as well as the interests of the group affected. If two governments with concurrent jurisdiction lay taxes so high in the aggregate as to discourage the individual, his ability is withdrawn from the business field and the government loses a valuable asset."

Governor Lehman said that he "suspected" every state was finding it difficult to finance its operations and expenses of its localities "without resorting to enactment of tax laws inimical to the economic interests of the state."

"And that," he said, "is probably due to the fact that the national government is almost monopolizing so many of the important tax fields."

"If I see the situation clearly," he added, we should without further delay—and when I say we, I mean the state and national government—institute plans for coordinating federal, state and local revenue systems.

I can think of no agency better equipped to assume leadership than this conference of governors of American states."

State G. O. P. Calls Executive Meeting

New York, Sept. 14.—Chairman William S. Murray of the Republican state committee, today called a meeting of the executive committee for 7 p. m., Standard Time, Tuesday evening, September 21, in the Onondaga Hotel at Syracuse. This meeting will precede the session of the state committee, a call for which was sent out by Chairman Murray yesterday.

The executive group, which includes the leaders of larger counties in the state, will give consideration to the situation generally and lay out a plan of campaign for election of Republican Assemblymen and Republican delegates to the constitutional convention.

Philip Eiting of this city is the executive committee member from Ulster county.

"TOUGHEST COP" QUILTS TO READ GREEK AND LATIN

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Ill health did what murderous gangs couldn't do—tamed New York city's "toughest cop."

So today, after 30 years of gang busting, Detective William J. Quaine—"Bill the Terror"—is cringing underworld figures—prepared to turn in his badge and retire on a $15,000 a year pension.

Quaine, a blue-eyed Irishman with a college degree and a fondness for reading Greek and Latin, joined the force on January 31, 1907.

In the next 27 years he waged such ruthless individual warfare against criminals in Manhattan's upper East Side that the Mafia, a secret Italian society, set a price of $10,000 on his head.

It was never collected, although eight gunmen set out to get him once to do so. Quaine routed them all, killing one. He himself, working in one of the metropolis's most crime-ridden districts, never suffered serious injury.

Questioned in 1931 after he brought in an obstreperous robber suffering from six broken ribs and displacement of the heart, Big Bill replied:

"I only remember hitting him once."

Now, 56 and ailing, Quaine is knocking off to study higher mathematics and read Sophocles in the original Greek.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT ENGAGED TO SOCIETY MISS

John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, is shown with his fiancée, Miss Anne Lindsay Clark, Boston debutante daughter of Mrs. F. Haven Clark of Boston and Nahant, Mass. Frequently rumors broke out that the two were engaged, but they were as often denied, even as lately as the day of young Roosevelt's return last week from a European vacation. No date has been set for the marriage.

had brought the combined total of ash and rubbish removal to 758 loads. In addition the trucks had trucked 1,801 cubic yards.

The incinerator had disposed of a daily average of 21 tons of materials.

Street Work

The most important street work of the month was the regrading, resurfacing of Prospect street, comprising 5,866 square yards; the resurfacing of Abbey street, 2,766 square yards; and the resurfacing of Bruyn avenue, at a cost of about 45 cents per square yard.

This work makes a very serviceable and neat surface which under normal conditions can be expected to wear for at least 6 or 8 years.

The report also listed the work done on the various streets in the city during the month of August, and also the work done in the city parks.

Poison Ivy Attack

During August five city employees contracted poison ivy. They were John J. Johnson, Jr., William J. Cline, Nathan Palisi, John Crook, and William H. Jordan.

On August 18, Ira Bongsteel injured his left ankle. While crossing Maiden Lane on his way home at 4 o'clock in the afternoon he jumped out of the way of an approaching car and caught his foot between the running board of a parked car and the approaching car.

John F. Wisneski injured the heel of his left foot while getting out of a truck. John J. Gorsline injured the small finger of his left hand while removing a catch basin grating.

The board audited a number of bills and then adjourned.

Mayor Heislman called the board's attention to the fact that the Uptown Business Men's Association was planning a celebration uptown on the evening of September 23, to dedicate the new street lighting system in the uptown business district, and that the board had been invited to attend.

Dr. Masaryk Dies At Praha, Aged 87

Praha, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 14 (AP)—Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, grand old man of Czechoslovakia and founder of the Republic, today lost his long fight against death which he regarded as the "common enemy of mankind."

He was 87 years old.

The "little father of Czechoslovakia" had been critically ill since September 2. Last week he rallied slightly but on Sunday night his condition took a sudden turn and he lapsed into unconsciousness.

In addition to his son and daughter, President Edvard Benes, Premier Milan Hodza and Chancellor P. Samsal were at the bedside when death came.

Madame Masaryk, the former Charlotte Garrigue of Brooklyn, died in 1923.

Masaryk will be remembered by millions of Americans as a patriot and Democrat whose efforts in the allied capitals during the World War made possible the creation of his country.

He was honored in the postwar years as one of Europe's great statesmen, but to his fellow countrymen he was even more the symbol of their liberty and the revered patron saint of national freedom.

Masaryk became president of the Czechoslovakian state when it was born in 1918. He was re-elected in 1920, 1927 and again in 1934. In December, 1935, without informing you of their advancing age compelled him to resign and turn over the presidency to Benes, his disciple and colleague.

He retired to the Chateau de Lany and during his final years lived the quiet life of a country squire.

SOCIAL SECURITY HINTS TO RESORT PROPRIETORS

In view of the closing of resorts and hotels throughout the Mid-Hudson area due to the ending of the resort season, John Form, manager of the Kingston office of the Social Security Board today offered the following suggestions as a help to resort proprietors in terminating their social security reports for this year.

Concerning the filing of the last tax return on Form SS-1, Employer's Return under Title VIII of the Social Security Act, after your resort is closed and you no longer have employees, the Collector of Internal Revenue has ruled that the employer must file an affidavit stating that operations will cease until the following May or June.

You should also indicate where your records will be available for inspection by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The next seasonal return on Forms SS-2 and SS-2a for 1937 will be for the quarter from July 1 to September 30, inclusive. Filing Form SS-2a, Employer's Report of Wages Paid to each employee, the date your employee left your services should be indicated. If any of your employees left in 1934, in December, 1935, without informing you of their advancing age compelled him to resign and turn over the presi-

Form SS-5, Application for an Account Number with this office, indicating thereon the reason for filing, such as "Employee left my services—date—without giving account number" and this application should bear the personal signature of a member of the firm "As Employer."

Mr. Form added that the Kingston office of the Social Security Board at 277 Fair street was anxious to help proprietors of Hotels and Resorts in all matters relating to the Social Security Act.

KEEPING WATCH ON MRS. CONSUMER

Swift livestock buyers who "ride the yards" receive hourly wholesale price reports on beef, veal, pork, and lamb, and their by-products.

The wholesale prices of meats and by-products govern the price of livestock. If the prices of meats and by-products go up, livestock buyers are forced to pay more. If meat prices go down, livestock buyers must pay less. Meat packers cannot long remain in business if they pay more for livestock than they get for meats and by-products.

What, in turn is the key to meat and by-product prices? It's Mrs. Consumer who has the last word. For example, when certain meat cuts move beyond her reach, she buys less or takes the less demanded cuts—or buys some other food. Since dressed meats are highly perishable and must be sold at once, meat prices must decline. This results in lower livestock prices. On the other hand, livestock prices rise when Mrs. Consumer is willing and able to pay more for meats and by-products.

The keen competition between approximately 1,100 meat packers—each eager for his share of business—insures producers the best possible prices. This competition keeps marketing costs and profits low. Over a period of years, Swift & Company's net profits from all sources have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Schmeling and Farr Rated As Best Heavy Challengers

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 14 (AP)—Germany's Max Schmeling and Tommy Farr of Wales were rated today by the National Boxing Association as the best of the challengers for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown.

Schmeling, who holds a knockout victory over the Brown Bomber, and Farr, defeated in his first title quest two weeks ago, ranked well above former Champion Jimmy Braddock in the NBA's official ratings.

Back of the German and the Welshman came Bob Pastor of New York as No. 3 contender; Al Bosto Lovell of the Argentine, No. 4; Braddock, No. 5; Tony Galento of Newark, N. J., No. 6; Nathan Mann of New York city, No. 7; Al McCoy of Boston, No. 8; Arturo Godoy of Chile, No. 9; and Roscoe Toles of Detroit, No. 10.

Louis was installed as the association's new champion despite

Armstrong and De Foe in Garden

Henry Armstrong, the knock-out specialist from California, has been signed to meet Johnny De Foe, the smart little fighter from the West Side, for ten rounds in the main event, at the final show of the summer boxing season, in Madison Square Garden, on Thursday night. It will be the third meeting between the two scrappy lads. Armstrong drew down the decision in their first encounter on the coast, while De Foe had a slight edge on the westerner going into the final round of their second clash at Butte, Montana, when he suffered a cut over the left eye that cost him the decision.

Horowitz Would Join Local Team

A postal was received by the sports department today from Ben Horowitz, Shokan, asking how he could get in touch with basketball managers for the coming season in regards to becoming a local player.

"I would appreciate it if you would advise me how I can make connections with some fairly strong club in Kingston," the communication stated. "I've played freshmen college ball and outside games and would like to work out with a good outfit." Ben Horowitz, care of Longyear, Shokan, N. Y.

N. Y. C. Trainer Predicts Upset for Severino Friday

Birdseye View Of Sports Events

By EDDIE BRETZ

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—It is easy to see why Fred Thompson, coach of the air-minded Arkansas Razorbacks, favors the forward pass as a ground-gaining weapon. ... He told a group of coaches a few days ago his team attempted an average of 33 passes a game last season. ... He also said every time Jack Robbins drew his arm back in an attempt to toss the leather, Arkansas gained 7 1/2 yards. ... You can't beat them secrets, says. ... Everybody up this way is agreed Don Budge will turn pro immediately after he has defended his Wimbledon title next year. ... Same old story. Washington sports writers are raving about Sammy Baugh.

Note to H. F. W. Sioux City, Ia.—New York light referees are paid on sliding scale, so much from houses from $1,000 to $2,500; so much for gates of $2,500 to $5,000, etc. ... Arthur Donovan got $250.00 for refereeing the Farr-Louis match. ... Sylvan will depend on sophomores for five or six varsity positions. ... Baton Gottfried Von ... proved himself one swell sport and he can't come back too soon to suit American tennis fans. ... Look for Jimmy Johnston to bob up any day now with an announcement that Bob Pastor and John Henry Lewis will fight at Ebbets Field in October.

Chif Melton, stringbean southpaw for the Giants, is yearning to face the Yankees in the World Series. ... The Yanks ... state him the gate. ... Brooklyn may try to buy southpaw Vito Tamulis from Newark. ... Pedro Montanez, who already owns a bar in Harlem, is soaking his ring earnings in the real estate and building business in Puerto Rico.

Back in 1932, New Orleans put on a "Carnival of Champions" similar to the one Mike Jacobs plans at the Polo Grounds, September 22. ... three great ring klutzes risked their titles on successive evenings. ... Two of them: Jack McAuliffe and Jack Skelly. ... will be Mike's guests a week from next Thursday night. ... Hans Olaf, who was national amateur bicycle champ in 1916, has just opened a bike store in Beverly Hills, Cal. ... Steve Granda, for four years line coach at Columbia, moved into Blue Ridge College at New Windsor, Md., this month as head coach. ... London promoters are calling Buddy Baer.

Down in Oklahoma they really aim to do something about it. ... out-of-state schools are doing a little peaching on the high school football preserves. ... Southern California got Bob Peoples, the javelin topper and one of the sweetest prospects the Sooner State has turned out in years. ... Raymond Mallory, the big Astorian from Sayre, has hooked up with Southern Methodist. ... Tony Robertson, a third all-star, from Duncan, was snagged by Louisiana State. ... Joe DiMaggio got a traffic ticket while hurrying to the Yankee Stadium yesterday. ... He tried to tell the cop he was the real O'Mar, but all the copper would say was "nerfs."

Holyoke, Mass.—Victor Vallee, 131, New York, outpointed Slim Diaz, 131, Mexico City (10).
Philadelphia—Bobby Pacheco, 149 1/2, Los Angeles, outpointed Harry Rubin, 148 1/2, Philadelphia (5).

In the American League the Yanks set about the elimination of another "contender," the Indians. Having disposed of the Senators, Athletics and Browns, the Ruppert riot squad can move all mathematical chance of Cleveland winning the pennant by taking three of their four games.

The Tigers opened their final eastern swing in Washington, the Browns were at Philadelphia and the Red Sox and White Sox had "stoooges". The Terrymen, who a day off.

When Mario Severino steps into the ring at the municipal auditorium, Friday night, in one of the five rounds featured bouts on the mayor's industrial committee boxing card, he'll face one of the toughest opponents he has met to date, according to Tex Slater of the Bennett A. C., New York city.

MARIO SEVERINO

"This Severino guy will have his hands full with Schenrich," said Slater. "My boy keeps his opponents busy every minute, that is provided the fight goes up to the third round, and there's not a dull moment. He generally keeps 'em though, and goes in for early finishes every time he climbs through the ropes."

Schenrich, commenting on Severino, whom he has been watching in his last three fights, opines that the latter's second-round favorite is just a punning demon who'll lose out against a smart fighter. "Wait'll Schenrich slaps him back with a left every time he tries to get that two-fisted attack of his started, and it won't be so hot for Mario."

Chief Ivanelli, Severino's handler, pointed to Mario's fight with Sammy Rizzo and remarked that the Amsterdam pugilist was smart enough but couldn't come through with a win two weeks ago. "I don't care how smart they are," said Ivanelli, "Mario is a great little scrapper and when he gets 'em they stay belted. He has met some of the best featherweights in the amateurs and his string of victories counts for something in the way of proving he's a comer."

Mario Severino is one of the most popular ringsters that ever boxed in Kingston, and indications are that there will be a capacity house to see him slug it out with Schenrich next Friday.

Chichester Trips Berardis, Manager "Ribs" Phoenicia

Manager Paul E. Schmiedel of the Chichester baseball team, today took a verbal "poke" at the Phoenicia Regulars, claiming superiority for his club over its mountain rivals.

Manager Schmiedel "ribbed" the Phoenicians in reporting his team's victory over the Berardis A. C. of Kingston, Sunday, by the score of 7-5. His letter to The Freeman follows:

"In a hard fought battle lasting 10 innings, Chichester defeated the Berardis A. C. at Lanesville, Sunday, 7-5.

"Cure and Benjamin were the batteries for Chichester, while Calk and DeGico pitched to Zaday and Maines for the Berardis. "Ray Smith won the game for Chichester in the 10th when he hit a home run with Let Grant on base, making the score 7-5.

"Since Phoenicia was defeated by this fast stepping outfit, after having won 12 straight games (from weak teams), Chichester claims the championship of the mountains on the grounds that they played better teams and beat the Berardis.

"Chichester is playing the Berardis again next Sunday, September 19, at Lanesville.

"Montg warriors were feared so greatly in the middle ages that Europeans opposing them sometimes seemed paralyzed.

McElrath's Smoke Eaters Drill For Game with Newburgh Rivals

Captain William McElrath had his Paid Fire Department softball team out for drill at the Athletic Field Monday morning, and the workout was such a "hot" one that it stirred up a flock of rain clouds and Kingston was flooded for the rest of the day.

"That's what we'll do to those Newburghers right here at the Athletic Field on Tuesday afternoon, September 21, rain all over them," said Captain Bill. He was very much pleased with the workout, and pronounced the team in excellent shape.

"But, we'll do more practicing," he added, "because we want to get even for that 12-13 setback the Newburghers handed us when we visited the hilly city.

Captain Bill would not give his lineup to the sports department. "No, not yet," he told a reporter. "There are a few positions I have settled on and I don't want to fool the fans."

Bill Geary has to lose a few pounds, or he won't even be let carry the water. He's doing calisthenics under the direction of a radio physical culture director, and hopes to be in shape for the 21st.

Although he held out on the lineup, Captain McElrath couldn't deny that the firemen will use Den Toffel on the mound, the ace twirler for them in Newburgh. "Ben should do better here on the 21st," said Mac. "Down in Newburgh they used a different kind of a ball than Denay is used to, but here we'll throw in a regulation softball. When he starts tossing his fast ones those Newburghers will fold up like last year's straw hat in an April shower."

Tickets for the game are being sold by the firemen, who expect a large turnout of fans at the contest.

West Point Cavalry After Grid Contests

Private R. M. Harris of the Second Squadron, 10th Cavalry, West Point, manager of the football team of that military organization writes The Freeman that he wants dates for the colored gridgers.

His communication follows: "With the football season closing in, the members of the Second Squadron of the 10th Cavalry football squad find they have several open dates. We play pro and semi-pro and prefer Sunday games.

"Any team desiring to fill a date is invited to communicate with me at once."

Probably the Kingston Yellow Jackets will invite the Cavalry here for one of the games at the Kingston Fair Grounds, where the West Pointers drew large turnouts in previous seasons.

Marriage by Elopement Is Common in Bali Land

In Bali, prearranged marriage is in general the old-fashioned respectable way for the feudal aristocracy to marry; but marriage by elopement is much more common, writes Miguel Covarrubias, in Asia Magazine.

The average boy in love with a girl makes his marriage arrangements directly with her and, aside from his father, perhaps, and a few friends from whom he needs help, he keeps his intentions secret until the day, previously agreed upon, when the boy and girl, when he will steal her.

Shy couples simply run away together to the house of a friend, as a rule in another village, where they spend their honeymoon in hiding. But the Balinese love spectacular kidnappings. The girl arranges for her clothes to be taken secretly to the future hideout, and on the appointed day she is captured somewhere on the road in the fields or on the river by the kidnapping party led by her suitor.

She is expected to kick and bite her abductors. Although there may be witnesses, they would not dream of interfering, unless they are relatives of the girl, in which case they are supposed to put up a great fight. At her home, as soon as her disappearance is discovered her enraged father is supposed to run to the alarm drum-tower and beat the kulul, asking who took his daughter, but, of course, no one knows. Even a searching party may be organized for the fun of it, but after a while they return breathless and empty handed.

The great marriage ceremony is supposed to take place within 42 days after the kidnapping, but in some cases it has been performed considerably later if there is not enough money immediately available for the festivities.

Honey Bees Will Supply Yucatan With Vinegar

East Lansing, Mich.—Julio Rendon has returned to his native Yucatan prepared to make vinegar from honey, after conferring at Michigan State college for a week with Dr. F. W. Fabian of the bacteriology department.

He intends to breed bees whose honey will be used almost exclusively in manufacturing vinegar which he will offer for sale.

"In this country, vinegar is produced from cider," Rendon said, "but in Yucatan we have no fruits available for making cider. The vinegar made in Yucatan is very poor."

Dr. Fabian added that throughout the tropics it was difficult to obtain proper acetic fermentation, and that in Mexico vinegar sold for 90 cents a pint. Much of it is imported from the United States.

Sepoy is the name given native soldiers; the British native army in India.

Only Seven Major League Managers Will Keep Jobs

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Here's the major league managerial situation, as it stands today in relation to 1938 job-holding prospects:

Signed and sealed: Bill Terry, New York Giants, new five-year contract as general manager, calling for estimated $40,000 yearly; Mickey Cochrane, Detroit Tigers, new two-year contract at estimated $30,000 per annum; Charley Grimm, Chicago Cubs, new one-year contract; Barleith Grimes, Brooklyn Dodgers, new one-year $15,000 contract; Jimmie Dykes, Chicago White Sox, new two-year contract.

Hold-overs: Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox, two years more on five-year contract; Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics, who has lifetime job.

Already out: Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis Browns, ousted July 21 and replaced for balance of season by Jim Bottomley; Chuck Dressen, Cincinnati Reds, unconditionally released yesterday, and replaced temporarily by Bobby Wallace.

Unsigned but due for renewal: Joe McCarthy, New York Yankees, whose two-year contract expires this season, Bill McKeechie, Boston Bees; Jimmy Wilson, Philadelphia Phillies; Buckey Harris, Washington Senators.

Unsigned and status in doubt: Steve O'Neill, Cleveland Indians; Pie Traynor, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Frank Frisch, St. Louis Cardinals.

On the basis of this summary, only seven of the 16 managers are certain of their 1938 status. Not all of the others are working, however.

Giants Swing Through West, Cubs Start 11-Game Bill Home

By BILL BONI Associated Press Sports Writer

To the utter confusion of Tin Pan Alley, the Giants and Cubs have their eyes wide open, and they're definitely not dreaming. Wrapped up in a pennant fight that's as close as a seal to his skin, the National League Jumping Jacks haven't time to dream. There's too much pressing business.

That business started today, and for a pronounced bang, the Giants and Cubs are in line for a stacked up in a twin bill against the Pirates, while the Cubs jumped into an 11-game home stand with two against the Bees.

Manager Bill Terry has his pitching staff in satisfactory shape for his final swing through the West.

Carl Hubbell and Al Smith, two of his three southpaws, were ready for today's call, with Hal Schumacher, whose sudden recovery of control has been such a big help, Chif Melton, the first-year man who's an all-year sensation, and Harry Gumbert in line for future starting assignments.

Right now it's his infield that's Memphis Bill's big leadhead. Hardly as steadfast as the rock-bound coast of Maine, it's shown definite gaps at the seams recently, notably around first base. Inexperienced Johnny McCarthy remains at that stand, however, for three appearances in 12 of 15 hitting too consistently to be dismissed from the Cards, will meet them in six of their last 10 games.

The rest of today's National League program consisted of two Bruins, to make things tougher, place Reds, whose popular manager, Chuck Dressen, was dismissed yesterday, were hosts to the Dodgers, while the Phils invaded St. Louis.

In the American League the Yanks set about the elimination of another "contender," the Indians. Having disposed of the Senators, Athletics and Browns, the Ruppert riot squad can move all mathematical chance of Cleveland winning the pennant by taking three of their four games.

The Tigers opened their final eastern swing in Washington, the Browns were at Philadelphia and the Red Sox and White Sox had "stoooges". The Terrymen, who a day off.

Few Hazards From Birds, Animals

Elephants are not responsible for elephantiasis; spotted fever does not come from a leopard's bite; if you are so inclined you may handle loads without fear of disfiguring warts. But parrots can transmit parrot fever, says Collier's Weekly.

Birds have contributed their quota to man's pleasure, the canary with his cheery song; the falcon, the pet of kings, to sport in hunting; the cormorant, who more practically seizes fish for his Oriental master's supper. With the exception of parrot fever, or psittacosis, the hazards from them are few.

Over 2 Inches of Rain Fell in City

The rain storm of Monday and early this morning drove the mercury down to a low of 50 degrees in Kingston, and many householders started fires in the heating systems to take the chill and damp out of the house. According to the records of the rain gauge on the city hall roof, there was a precipitation of 2.66 inches of rain in the city. The rain began falling about noon Monday and the storm ceased about 3 o'clock this morning.

So heavy was the fall of rain that many streets were under water for part of the time as the sewer outlets were unable to carry off the water that fell.

Report of Second Y.M.C.A. Meeting

The second annual Setting-Up Conference of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. planned the respective programs in the various departments and clubs for the coming 12 months at the "Y" camp at Glenrie.

President Clarence Dumm presided at the conference and called upon Dr. Julian I. Gifford, chairman of the boys' work committee, for the invocation. In welcoming the board members, committeemen, Couples Club, Ladies' Auxiliary and guests, President Dumm said: "It is a happy occasion to see so many assembled at this, our second Setting-Up Conference, for the purpose of planning a more worthwhile program in the building of character in our community. While all the departments of the association are of utmost importance, it is my hope and desire that special emphasis this year will be placed on the work with the boys. With the physical equipment of the boys' department in splendid condition, I am sure that under the guidance of Chairman Dr. Julian I. Gifford and Boys' Secretary Ellis T. Bookwalter, this will be a banner year. It is gratifying to note that 90 per cent of the items planned at the conference last fall have been accomplished."

The boys' work secretary, Ellis T. Bookwalter, was introduced by General Secretary Robert L. Sisson. In Mr. Bookwalter's remarks he praised the work which had been done in the past year and pledged himself to the task of carrying it on to the best of his ability.

During the balance of the afternoon the conference divided into their respective groups and discussed the Y. M. C. A. program. Under the direction of Mrs. D. N. Secore and ladies of the "Y" Auxiliary, a picnic lunch was served at 6 p. m. in the Charles Rammer Lodge.

At the sound of the gavel by President Dumm reports of the planning of the committees were made as follows:

Clarence S. Rowland reported that "The Y. M. C. A. is in a much better condition in all phases than a year ago. The Board of Directors are extremely optimistic of the future development of the association with continued splendid cooperation of committees, and especially the Ladies' Auxiliary which is an essential group in the 'Y.' The new 'Y' couples club who have been helpful during the past year, and all other friends. Although the 'Y' is not out of the red, a great deal of progress has been made in the direction of reducing the debt. New ideas are being formulated to increase the current income and at the same time give added program features."

Chairman E. J. Trowbridge of the membership committee reported that plans for the "Membership Rally" from September 20-27, are being perfected rapidly. A goal of 200 members for the men's department has been set to be secured by an organization of 50 workers. The rally will be conducted along the lines of two divisions of 25 workers each who will supposedly be building "Power Lines of Youth" in each membership counting as a mile of a finished line. The committee also is putting out a very simple but effective folder telling about the activities offered at the Y. M. C. A.

The boys' committee, which had the best percentage of attendance, reported through their chairman, Dr. Julian I. Gifford, that a special effort was to be made in building up the High School or Class A division during the coming months. The department also plans to strengthen the leadership of the various clubs into which the membership of the boys' department is to be divided. Preliminary plans were discussed for a definite policy and will be acted upon at the next meeting of the committee on October 12.

The physical committee promises the best season in the history of the association under the leadership of Chairman E. G. Boessneck, Jr., and Physical Director Charles Henke. Mr. Boessneck stated that there was to be new classes in boxing, wrestling and advanced swimming. The summer has been spent in getting equipment in the gym and locker room in condition for the fall activities.

Exhibition and Circus
At this point H. L. Winter stated that he was confident that a large number of new members could be secured for the game of badminton. With the splendid foundation which Physical Director Henke has laid during the past year, all indications point towards a decided increase in attendance of the activities and events. On January 1 there is to be an exhibition of the accomplishments of the various gym classes. It is also planned sometime in the early part of April to put on a Y. M. C. A. Circus with all the trappings which goes with such an event.

Mrs. George DuBois, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, expressed her thanks to The Freeman and Clifton Avenue Church, the Board, and any others who helped to make the first annual clambake the success that it was. There was an attendance of over 122. "We are always glad to do anything within our ability to help the Y. M. C. A. carry on its work of character building for men and boys," stated Mrs. DuBois. She also reported that there was to be a rummage sale under the auspices of the Auxiliary on September 28, 29, and 30.

R. H. Broughton, of the Y. M. C. A. Couples Club reported that the scheduled activities of his group were practically ready with something different each month of the year. He also stated that the club was ready at any time to render assistance to the Y. M. C. A. At the first meeting of the club will be at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening, September 18.

In the absence of Chairman Jansen Fowler of the newly organized Young Men's Committee, Secretary Sisson reported that he had talked over several plans for building up a lobby program and making for more sociability for members ranging in age from 18 to 25.

Chairman Dumm thanked the conference group for the fine results and stated that it would be a great satisfaction next year at the third conference to report that all these things had been accomplished.

Those in attendance at the conference were: Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Secore, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Balz, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rowland, Ellsworth Haines, Chester A. Bultz, Jr., Roy Van Bramer, Mrs. Lasher, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dumm, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Trowbridge, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Broughton, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Edson, Mrs. George DuBois, Mrs. Edgart, Mrs. Everett, Dr. and Mrs. Julian Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. Miner, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sisson, Ellis T. Bookwalter, Charles Henke, H. L. Winter, and Betty and Ralph Broughton.

Yom Kippur Sundown Services

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Jews around the globe at sundown today worshipped in synagogues and temples Yom Kippur, Hebrew Day of Atonement.

The services brought to a close the annual high holy days ushering in the Jewish new year 5698.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, national chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, in a radio Yom Kippur message urged Jew and Christian alike to "pause to give serious thought to the moral and spiritual ailments that have made a sickbed of so large a part of the world."

"Unless we dedicate ourselves to a regeneration of the spirit, man at the expense of retarding the progress of scientific and technological development," he said, "we are threatened with the complete disintegration and violent destruction of the world we live in."

COMMENTS BOARD FOR BUYING PHONO-AUDIOMETER

Sept. 13, 1937
Editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.

I wish to publicly commend the action of the Superintendent of the Schools and the Board of Education in purchasing a phono-audiometer, for use in Kingston Public Schools.

The Bull Building is one of our most bothersome problems in school children. The phono-audiometer affords the quickest and best means to determine the acuteness of hearing of the school child. Heretofore, we have been dependent upon the instrument borrowed from the State Department of Education. The demand for, the state owned instrument, was so frequent that it was only at intervals that we have had the opportunity of borrowing the state machine.

The cost of the instrument which the Board of Education has bought, is not prohibitive and I am confident that within two or three years it will more than pay for itself in the general advancement to our school children of Kingston.

Yours truly yours,
THOMAS F. CROWLEY, M.D.

Sears Increase Expenditures
An $6 per cent increase in the New York expenditures of Sears, Roebuck and Co. during last year was announced today by Leonard Beers, manager of the local Sears retail store. This increase represents a total expenditure of $72,303,315.00 during 1936. Mr. Beers learned when a copy of a survey conducted in connection with Sears' 51st anniversary reached him this morning from the executive offices of the company. A huge anniversary sales event starts locally, and in all Sears stores throughout the nation, on Thursday.

CUPID SHOT HER WITH AUTO

Eunice Murray (above), 22, told police that Arthur Grasso, 26, ran her down with an automobile when she refused to continue their friendship. She is being treated for bruises and Grasso is held in Malden, Mass., in $2,000 bail charged with assault. He pleaded innocent.

Albert Parkoski Died of Injuries

Albert Parkoski, a farm hand of Port Ewen, died Monday afternoon of injuries he sustained when struck by an auto on Route 9-W on Sunday evening. An autopsy ordered by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray showed that the man had sustained a fractured skull. He was struck by a car driven by William Witte of Esopus, near the Walker gas station below Port Ewen shortly before 10 o'clock Sunday night. He was removed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment.

For about 12 hours his identity was not definitely established, but it was learned that he had been employed at various times during the past three years by Sidney Black at his farm in Port Ewen. The autopsy was performed by Drs. Ross and Taylor, and Coroner Leslie DuBois issued the burial permit.

Mr. Parkoski is survived by two stepsons, Michael Augustine of this city and Frank Augustine of Jersey City. The funeral will be held from the Lawrence T. Scanlon Funeral Home, 501 Delaware avenue, on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to the Church of the Immaculate Conception where at 9:30 o'clock services will be held with burial in the family plot in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

MEETING OF MEN'S CLUB COUNCIL

Wednesday evening the council of the Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will meet at the home of the president of the club, Charles Nestell, 108 Henry street, at 8 o'clock. All members of the council are requested to attend.

No Arrests Here In Several Days

A rather unusual record in Kingston is the fact that no arrests were made in Kingston since Saturday, and as a result there were no cases in police court on Monday or today. This is the first in a long time when the police had not found it necessary to make an arrest for several days in the city.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman has appointed Joseph A. Fassbender of 15 Hasbrouck Place as a member of the city zoning board. The appointment is for a term of three years and expires on August 21, 1940. Mr. Fassbender succeeds N. Jansen Fowler, whose term had expired.

Mayor Heiselman said today that Mr. Fowler had expressed the wish not to be reappointed. The mayor said Mr. Fowler had proven a valued member of the zoning board and for that reason he was sorry that he had declined a reappointment.
